BY JAMES A. MILLS
Shanghai—(AP)—Masses of Chinese infantry struck hard at the heart of Japanese shore positions in eastern Shanghai late today and forced the enemy lines back almost to the Whangpoo river.
The Chinese drive came just as vanguards of a Japanese army from the homeland were reaching the Shanghai war zone. It threatened to disorganize plans of the Japanese command to seek victory on a greatly extended front.
The advance of the Chinese was reported to have reached the Ward road jail and Yangtzeop road, well within the eastern—or Japanese—held district of the international settlement. Both points are within a few hundred yards of the Whangpoo riverfront, where reinforcements and supplies for the Japanese forces ashore have been landed.
The attacking Chinese forces came from their Kiangwan area on the northeast. Apparently they were trying to isolate several thousand Japanese marines holding the Hangkew sector. Chinese said at one point their lines had been advanced four miles, although on most of the front it was held to a few hundred yards.
Japs in Danger
Military experts said that if the Chinese succeeded in reaching the waterfront and holding their new lines the position of the Japanese between Whangpoo and Soochow creek—hitherto the main Japanese land forces—would be precarious.
Japanese lines were badly bent about a mile east of the Astor House hotel, at the junction of Soochow creek and the Whangpoo. Tanks and armored cars were rushed into the breach and the Japanese marines had to give ground.
The Japanese command, however, prepared to throw into the battle the new army arriving from Japan, greatly extend the field of operations and compel the Chinese to withdraw by flanking movements.
Seven troop ships landed Japanese reinforcements and war supplies at Japanese docks on the Whangpoo waterfront today. Sixteen more transports with 20,000 soldiers aboard were reported lying at the mouth of the Yangtze ready to attempt a landing under cover of darkness and the guns of their battle fleet.
At least two divisions from Japan were reported entering the Shanghai campaign immediately and 60,000 more men were understood to be en route from the homeland under orders from Shanghai.
Chinese in Waiting
It was believed the Japanese attempt at landing would be made at Liuhoo, on the Yangtze 17 miles northwest of here, where in 1932 the Japanese army effected a landing and broke the stubborn Chinese resistance.
But two Chinese divisions were reported entering there to fight off the invaders.
The Chinese thrust came amid Japan's first major offensive in the Kiangwan area of North Shanghai. There, the Chinese apparently were holding their own against Japanese infantry, artillery, naval and air attacks.
The Japanese sought to cut off the Chinese in Shanghai from help from the Yangtze, to the north. There were reports that 800,000 Chinese were concentrated at Nanking, the capital up the Yangtze, to reinforce the more than 100,000 already fighting about 25,000 Japanese bluejackets here.
Japanese air bombs missed their mark and smashed at the American Southern Baptist mission in the Chapei quarter in north Shanghai and at the American mission hospital at Nantunghow, up the Yangtze in Kiangwan province. The mission suffered heavily, and the fate of its 20 Americans was not known.

Organize New Group To Scour Arctic for Lost Soviet Airmen

New York—(AP)—A huge flying boat equipped for Arctic operations left Long Island sound at 10:40 a. m. (C. S. T.) today on the first leg of a flight which will carry Sir Hubert Wilkins, the explorer, into the far north to aid in the search for six missing Soviet transpolar aviators.
Up to the moment the boat left, Herbert Hollick-Kenyon, Canadian flier who accompanied Wilkins on the Lincoln Ellsworth Antarctic expedition, directed mechanics as they labored hurriedly to equip the 17-ton flying boat Guba for the first lap of its long journey, an overland flight to Toronto harbor on Lake Ontario.
The expedition planned to set up its ultimate flying base at the mouth of the Coppermine river on the edge of the Arctic ocean.
The Guba, one of the finest ships ever built for long-distance flying, was purchased by the Soviet government from Richard Archbold of the American Museum of Natural History. Last June it flew from San Diego to New York in 17 hours and 34 minutes to complete the first non-stop transcontinental hop ever made by a plane of its type.
Wilkins said he had been hired by the Soviet government to direct the search. He declared flight operations would continue for several months if necessary to locate pilot Sigismund Levanevsky, the "Lindbergh of Russia," and his five comrades. The Soviet fliers were last heard from Friday shortly after passing the north pole on their flight from Moscow to the United States.
Meanwhile, airmen of three nations were poised on the rim of the Arctic circle waiting for a favorable turn in the weather that would allow them to launch their part of the search.
The airmen planned to comb the area around Barter island, 300 miles east of Fairbanks, Alaska, where Eskimos told Bob Randall, Canadian flier, they had heard what might have been an airplane motor about the time the Russians disappeared.
While Randall waited at Point Barrow, Jimmy Mattern, who flew here from California to join the hunt, Joe Crosson, noted Alaskan pilot, and other U. S. fliers were grounded at Fairbanks.

Wallace Pleads For More Income For U. S. Farmers

Says Farm Solidarity Essential to Keeping National Economy in Balance

Chippewa Falls—(AP)—Henry A. Wallace, secretary of agriculture, called farm solidarity a necessity today if the American national economy is to be kept in reasonable balance.
In an address to 4,000 northern Wisconsin farmers and members of soil conservation committees from 20 northern counties yesterday, Wallace urged a seven-point program for agriculture, after telling his audience "outside" influences had induced several of a group of 16 nationally prominent farm leaders to abandon his "ever normal granary" plan.
Wallace declared the 16 leaders had signed on the "dotted line," promising their support last February. He did not mention them by name but pleaded that they rally around his proposed program once more.
The secretary, outlining a seven-point farm program, said part of it could be achieved immediately and part of it would require years to accomplish. He urged:
1. That farmers receive a fair share of the nation's total income per capita, Wallace said although the gross income of the farming class had more than doubled in 1936 over three years previous, farmers still lack more than a billion dollars of their fair share of wealth.
2. The establishment of an "ever normal granary," which would carry over crop surpluses from good years to poor years.
3. An effective soil conservation program.
4. Security of tenure on farms.
5. More effective cooperation.
6. Promotion of family-size farms.
7. Continuance of federal and state financial aid for the promotion of more efficient farming methods.
Following his address Wallace conferred with Wisconsin farm leaders on the 1938 soil conservation program and on his ever normal granary plan.

Senator Bankhead Re-

Washington—(AP)—Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.) asked President Roosevelt today to authorize a government loan of 10 cents a pound on cotton.
The senator, saying Secretary Wallace had advocated a 9-cent loan, told newspapermen 10 cents would be best for both the government and the farmer because the farmer actually was "going to get 12-cent cotton anyway."
The president recently was reported to have agreed with the cotton bloc in congress to order loans on this year's cotton to farmers who pledged compliance with crop control legislation which will be enacted next session.
A senate subcommittee went forward with its study of a bill by Senator McAdoo (D-Calif.) to guarantee to farmers the cost of production for their domestically consumed crop.

After Escape from Jail

Eau Claire—(AP)—Police and sheriff's deputies recaptured Carl Johnson, 35, late yesterday—six hours after he escaped from the county jail where he was confined pending trial on a second degree murder charge.
Deputy Sheriff Herbert Phillips found Johnson hiding in brush along the Chippewa river, less than a mile from the jail. Johnson plunged into the river but turned back and surrendered when Phillips started after him in a boat.
Johnson had slipped out of his cell when a trusty left the door open while cleaning it.
Johnson is charged with the shooting of Joyce Sorenson, 14, who was killed June 29 by a bullet fired into the home of Johnson's brother, Alf. The bullet passed through a screened porch and struck Joyce as she played on a sidewalk nearby.

Mystery of Who Squirted Champagne Still Is Unsolved

Paris—(AP)—The Surete Nationale, French control, police agency, stiffly declined today to discuss the possibility of an investigation to determine just who squirted champagne on the mayor of Cannes.
John Roosevelt, 21-year old son of the president of the United States, said he didn't do it—that it must have been two other fellows whom Mayor Pierre Nouveau took for Roosevelt and his traveling companion at Cannes last Sunday.
But the mayor, whose suit was ruined, told U. S. Ambassador William C. Bullitt by telephone.
"I was told that my attacker was young Roosevelt, although I had never seen him before. I regret to say that I am certain now it was Mr. Roosevelt. I wish the whole affair were ended."

The president's son insisted: "I never met the mayor of Cannes. . . . I don't know anything about it. I have no idea how the situation came up."

Friends said the youth was eager to return to Cannes to permit the mayor to look at him to demonstrate that it was a case of mistaken identity. They added, however, that he was prevailed upon not to do it.

Sees Reflection of Democratic Tenderness for LaFollette

Milwaukee—(AP)—Opposition by two Wisconsin members of the Democratic national committee to a proposed coalition of Democrats and Republicans, Edward J. Samp, chairman of the state Republican committee, said today, reflects a sympathetic tenderness of the Roosevelt administration for the LaFollette.

Charles E. Broughton, Sheboygan, and Mrs. George N. Givan, Democratic national committee members from Wisconsin, expressed opposition yesterday to an alignment of old party members.

"Acting as the Wisconsin spokesman for the Roosevelt-Farley regime," Samp said in a statement, "they (Mr. Broughton and Mrs. Givan) are only making more evident the desire to support the LaFollette regime in Wisconsin."

"Mr. Broughton states that those favoring coalition are attempting to use the Democratic party as a vehicle for Republican success. Does this not mean, Mr. Broughton, that you would prefer that the Democratic party contribute to a LaFollette victory in Wisconsin, rather than to either a coalition or Republican victory?"

Stratz, who was serving a one-to-four year term for robbery, was discovered walking on the railroad tracks near Argonne by the sheriff and his son, William, 16.

As Ramsdell dropped unconscious, Stratz fled with the fugitive and brought him down with a flying tackle, but Stratz overpowered him and made his escape.

Washington—(AP)—Senator Hugo L. Black received from the hands of President Roosevelt today his commission as an associate justice of the supreme court.

The 51-year-old Alabama, dressed in a white summer suit left a White House luncheon conference with the president carrying the commission in a cardboard container.

He said he had not decided when, or where, he would take the constitutional oath, who he would ask to administer it.

He added, however, he thought he would take the oath late today or tomorrow.

He said he would resign from the senate at about the time he was sworn and that copies would go to both Governor Graves of his state and Vice President Garner.

He said he talked with Graves for about five minutes today but would not say whether his successor as senator was discussed.

He expressed belief, in response to a question, that he court petition to prevent his assuming the bench, filed yesterday by Albert Levitt, former federal judge, would have no effect on his taking his new office.

Black remained with the president more than an hour and a half, Alabama projects.

SOVIET GETS BLAME
Charge Russia Influenced Czechs to Cancel Por-

Lisbon—(AP)—The authoritarian Portuguese government announced formally today it had severed diplomatic relations with the Republic of Czechoslovakia over an unfilled order of machine guns.

At the same time Portugal accused Czechoslovakia of yielding to the "influences and pressure" of an unidentified "third party" in blocking fulfillment of the arms order.

The newspaper Diario de Noticias promptly declared, in interpretation of the move, that Czechoslovakia had received "instructions from an eastern power not to supply arms to a country which was a sure guarantee against a communist Iberian peninsula."

In the same comment, the newspaper declared "Czechoslovakia is the Russian stronghold in central Europe and perhaps the soviet's largest air base."

The official Portuguese communiqué bluntly attributed the Prague government's reluctance to permit a Czechoslovakia armament firm to supply a larger order of machine guns to Portugal's attitude on the civil war raging within her neighbor state, Spain.

Portugal, governed by a fascist-inclined premier, Dr. Antonio de Oliveira Salazar, lies at the backdoor of the Spanish territory controlled by the insurgent leader, Francisco Franco, and several weeks ago wiped out the international patrol of her frontier against arms and soldiers bound for Spain.

Portugal's statement today disclosed that the Portuguese minister to Czechoslovakia left Praha for Vienna yesterday with the legation staff, leaving the task of looking after Portuguese interests in the middle European republic to the Italian minister.

The dispute had its origin two years ago, the communiqué continued, when Portugal placed a

Seek Father of Slain
Girl for Abandonment

Milwaukee—(AP)—District Attorney Herbert J. Steffen issued a warrant today charging Gaston Roberts, 36, father of Joyce Roberts, 11, who was found strangled July 31, with abandonment. The father is believed to be in California.

The warrant charged Roberts did not pay alimony to his divorced wife, Margaret and support money for his children, Ernest, 17, Esther, 16, and Joyce before she died. The clerk of circuit court reported Roberts is $956 in arrears. Mrs. Roberts obtained a divorce in November, 1935.

A letter written by her father and addressed to her arrived the day that Joyce was buried. The envelope was postmarked Mexico City, Mexico.

Police reported there were no developments today in the search for the little girl's slayer.

Pork exports averaged 211,000,000 pounds and imports 6,000,000 in the five years of 1928-32.

Beloit—(AP)—Donald Kehoe, 25, of Freeport, Ill., and Herbert Johnson, 23, of Beloit, were killed yesterday when Johnson's automobile swerved into a bridge and struck a ladder on which Kehoe was standing.

Kehoe was painting a bridge at South Beloit when the automobile struck it. The car climbed about 10 feet up a span and struck Kehoe's ladder, catapulting him to the pavement below. Kehoe died shortly afterwards.

Johnson was killed instantly when his automobile tipped over backwards, crushing him to death.

Differences Over Low Cost Housing Measure Keeps Committee Busy

President's Speech
Drives Wedge Deeper
Into Democratic Split

BY NATHAN ROBERTSON
Washington—(AP)—President Roosevelt's aggressiveness since the collapse of his legislative program—evidence anew in his Roanoke Island speech—emphasized the potentialities of the split which has developed within his party during this session of congress.

The chief executive followed up his selection of liberal Senator Black for the Supreme court with a presidential speech yesterday at Roanoke Island in which he characterized his critics as "American Lord Macaulays" who do not believe in democracy.

These two developments within the past week culminated a series of events which have completely changed the political picture since the president began his second term seven months ago today.

The Black appointment in itself was evidence of the changing political scenes. It topped off a sudden shift in senate leadership, in which the death of Senator Robinson of Arkansas was only a part.

At the outset of the session, Robinson and Senators Harrison of Mississippi and Byrnes of South Carolina were the acknowledged senate leaders.

Suddenly, younger and more liberal senators took their places. Barkley of Kentucky became the majority leader by one vote over Harrison, and Senator Schwelbensch of Washington and Minton of Indiana, together with Black, formed the new inner circle.

G. O. P. Holds Balance
The session began with 76 almost equal Democrats forming the biggest party majority the senate ever had seen. It is ending with 75 Democrats divided into nearly equal factions on some of the Roosevelt legislative proposals. Thus the Democrats on some issues have turned the balance of power over to the numerically weak Republican minority, not only in the senate, but in the house.

Even Vice President Garner's status has changed. At the outset he was regarded as a stalwart behind-the-scenes negotiator for all presidential policies. Although still friendly and loyal to the president, he has been the spearhead of opposition to some administration plans.

President Roosevelt's court reorganization proposal is credited generally with creating the party friction. But close observers have noted

Bargaining will start between nine auto dealers in Appleton, Neenah and Kaukauna and striking mechanics and workers at 8 o'clock Friday morning at the city hall, it was decided at a meeting of the dealers and the Machinists and Mechanics union, local No. 747, at the city hall this morning with H. Herman Rauch, regional director of the Wisconsin Labor Relations board, presiding.

Workers in 25 shops in the Appleton area went on strike at noon, Saturday, July 31, after three months of futile negotiating between the dealers and employees.

The union decided that the workers will bargain individually with the dealers when the employees stated that it was immaterial to them whether they negotiated collectively or individually.

Nine of the 14 dealers represented by the union said they believed a majority of the men in their shops were paid-up union members, and will recognize the union as their bargaining agency.

The other five dealers said that they did not believe that the majority of the men in their shops were members of the union. Union representatives left it to the state labor relations board to determine by election or otherwise whether the majority of the men in the five shops were pledged union members.

Dealers who will recognize the union as the bargaining agency are the Pontiac Sales and Service, Neenah.

Moscow—(AP)—Japanese Ambassador Mamoru Shigemitsu was accused today by Pravda, the official Communist party newspaper, of abusing his diplomatic rank by spreading secret anti-Communist propaganda in the soviet capital.

At the same time, the Russian newspaper Soviet Siberia reported the execution of 34 convicted spies and wreckers at Irkutsk after military trials on charges of terrorist activity for the Japanese intelligence service.

This was the second large-scale execution reported within two weeks in Siberia. On June 11, 72 persons were put to death on charges of conspiring with Japanese secret service agents to wreck Russian far east railroads.

Pravda, charging Shigemitsu with "unbecoming conduct," hinted broadly that propaganda activities would not be tolerated.

The reference was to a statement which Shigemitsu handed to foreign correspondents here disputing Russian charges that Japanese espionage and protected a white Russian said on the Soviet consulate in Tientsin, China.

SENATE MOVES FAST
Also Disposes of Legislation to Tighten Income Tax Laws

Washington—(AP)—A committee of senators and representatives took over today the job of eliminating house and senate differences over the administration's low-cost housing bill.

Within half an hour after it met today the swiftly moving senate rejected changes made in the measure as approved by the house yesterday and Vice-President Garner appointed members of a conference committee. Even before that the senate had disposed of the bill to tighten income tax laws.

The tax measure, which treasury experts say will add more than $100,000,000 a year to federal revenues, went through without a record vote. Previously it had passed the house without a tally being counted against it.

The bill is directed at the use of personal holding companies and other devices employed by wealthy persons to reduce their income tax payments.

Except to work out differences on the housing bill, the tax bill in which minor changes were made by the senate yesterday and discover if possible, a way to unsmother the tie-up over the sugar bill, final action on the third deficiency appropriation was all that remained between congress and Saturday night adjournment.

Passed over to next session were such matters as a general farm bill, wage and hour control and government reorganization.

Consider Minor Bills
The $98,000,000 deficiency appropriation bill is scheduled to reach the senate floor Friday or Saturday. After approval of the tax bill, Majority Leader Barkley called for consideration of a score of minor bills still on the calendar.

Chairman Harrison (D-Miss.) of the senate finance committee predicted the house would agree quickly to senate amendments written into the tax bill yesterday at his committee's request.

Chiefly, they would exempt gas and oil royalty companies from the imposed on personal holding companies and permit such holding companies to deduct "reasonable" sums for debt retirement from their taxable income.

Settlement of the housing bill differences, however, may not be so uneventful. Both senate and house members expressed decided opinions on the organization of the housing program during debate.

Vice President Garner appointed these members of the conference committee: Senators Walsh (D-Mass.), Cope-land (D-N. Y.), Thomas (D-Utah), Borah (R-Ida.) and LaFollette (Prog.-Wis.).

A hangover phase of the court controversy bobbed up in the house when that body voted $10,000 for a judiciary committee investigation of procedure, organization and operation of the lower federal courts.

Roosevelt Demands
The plan for such an investigation grew out of the fight over President Roosevelt's demands for court reorganization.

Into discussion of the appropriation Rep. Allen (R-Ill.) brought the name of Hugo L. Black, Alabama senator, whose nomination to the supreme court was confirmed Tuesday.

Expressing disappointment at the selection of Black for the position, he said: "Many of us feel that we could have a colleague in the house who would have been the logical appointee—I refer to Chairman Sumners of our judiciary committee."

Before passing the housing bill the house spent nine hours debating the measure which opponents—most Republicans and some Democrats—contended would aid the cities at the expense of rural sections. Sponsors quoted a provision that funds would be used wherever needed.

In brief, the measure as passed by the house provides:
Loans to state and municipal agencies for developing low-rent housing or slum clearance projects, with communities putting up 15 per cent of construction costs. The senate fixed the amount at 5 per cent.

Capital grants up to 25 per cent of development costs. Annual sub-

Board Hires Three New Instructors To Fill Vacancies

Stout Graduate Named for Domestic Arts Job at High School

Three new teachers were engaged to fill vacancies in the senior high school, Washington school, and junior high schools at a meeting of the board of education at the Lincoln school last night.

Miss Mildred Nickels, a graduate of Stout Institute, who has had three years of experience in the Randolph high school, will fill the domestic arts vacancy in the senior high school. Miss Beatrice Pavey, a graduate of Oshkosh State Teachers college with three years experience teaching in Kewaunee schools, was engaged to fill a vacancy in the Washington school and Miss Margaret Zuelke, a graduate of Rosary College who taught last year in Shawano, will fill the arts vacancy in the junior high schools.

It was announced that Earl De Long, building project inspector, and B. J. Bohan, superintendent of schools, will go to the lighting institute in Chicago sometime in September to work on the lighting problems for the senior high school, and that Louis Luedtke, city electrician, Mr. Long, and Oliver Froger would work on specifications for the transformers and equipment in the transformer rooms and report to the building committee.

Representatives of the Appleton Trades and Labor council requested the use of the high school band for the Labor Day parade, which was granted on condition the band could be assembled in time.

Hollywood News And Gossip

BY ROBBIN COONS
Hollywood—Brutal frankness is the keynote of the first dramatic criticism movie aspirants receive. It is fortunate for the ego of many of them that they never see these "confidential reports" on their screen tests passed around to executives from day to day.

These samples, minus names, will indicate what you, if you are a prospective screen tester, may expect in the way of a report:

"Miss X—Ingenuite, about 20, blonde. Doing a scene with Miss Y—Clean-cut looking young lady but unfortunately, no depth to her reading of dialogue. High-pitched voice that carries no weight and gets monotonous. Miss X is hardly ready for the demands we might have for her."

Getting Personal
"Miss Y—Well set-up brunette with swell personality. Unfortunately Miss Y has a difficult profile for the camera. Sort of a pug nose, but she has personality and can develop into a comedienne. Miss Y is worth a trial for the bits she can do. Not hard to look at, but the nose difficulty takes her out of the beauty class. See the test please."

"Mr. X—Dark juvenile with a gal named Miss Z. Two people romping through a scene as though they were just there for the day and brought their lunch to fill in a gap. The Z gal is a buxom lass who has nothing. No interest."

"Miss A—In some scenes for a current production. Unfortunately Miss A did not look so well in these tests photographically. The scenes asked the gal to give more than she has."

Miss A is a contract player, which shows that even with contract you haven't arrived at perpetual orchids.

"Miss B—Brunette prima donna. Extensive singing test. . . Slight in stature and not hard to look at. Sings a song well. Round-faced and is probably younger than she looks in the test. . . Knows the tricks of commercial singing and is worth a look if you need a singer."

Here's Something—Mebbe
"Miss C—About 17 and a hoover. Does a tap specialty. Good dancer, but bad saleslady."

Even when you're good you have to sell.
"Mr. D—Agent brought the cut-outs from a foreign picture back with him. Mr. D is a blonde, about 23. I guess he is a good actor but the cut-outs were with and without sound track and therefore not a fair test. If he is half as good as the agent says he is, mebbe he has something."

"Miss E—Our latest importation from abroad, and I'm afraid he has what it takes. Beautiful on that screen and an excellent actress. We made silent make-up tests and extensive scene tests for the picture which goes into the works next week. Miss E has an accent, but is with a tutor every day and, being apt, she will correct it in a short time. It is very important that you see this test immediately and get E's opinion. She can be an important woman for us."

This last one sounds as if a star is born.

855 New Business Firms Incorporated In State This Year

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison—Registration of new corporations during the first seven months of this year ran 17 per cent ahead of the corresponding period last year, thus giving an additional index to improving business conditions in the state, a report by Albert J. Nelson, chief clerk of the corporation division of the secretary of state's office, showed today.

Not only are more new business firms organizing in Wisconsin, but articles of incorporation for foreign business are also on the increase, Nelson reported. There is also a substantial tendency upward in the amount of capitalization.

While there is no county breakdown of the registrations available, weekly reports for the last few months show that many of the new business units are being formed in the Fox river valley counties.

Thus far this year the office has registered articles of incorporation for 855 domestic corporations, Nelson reported.

The biggest year in the state's history in new business organization was in 1920, when 1908 articles were filed.

At the start of the meeting Mr. Rauch explained to the dealers their obligations under the state law, pointing out that they had to bargain with the representatives chosen by the majority of the workers in their shops, whether individually or collectively.

The strikers are seeking an agreement which provides principally for a higher wage scale and a 48-hour week.

Schedule Hearings on Unfair Labor Practices

Madison—Hearings on unfair labor practice charges involving the Silver Grill, Eau Claire, and the Yellow Cab company, Milwaukee, were set by the state labor relations board today for next Tuesday.

The Yellow cab hearing will be held at the Milwaukee office of the board, starting at 9 a. m., and the Silver Grill case was scheduled for 2 p. m. at the court house in Eau Claire.

The board announced it would conduct hearings in the West Bend court house tomorrow on listing of independent unions by the Modern Dry Cleaners and Laundry workers union and the Independent Union of Aluminum Workers of that city. A similar hearing on petition of the Lake Mills Shoe Workers union will be held at the court house in Lake Mills Monday.

Roosevelt Speech Drives Wedge Into Democratic Split

many contributing causes, some nearly as fundamental.

Harrison and Byrnes supported the court bill, but they along with Garner and others in the party were critical of the president's handling of the sit-down strike problem and the labor situation during the winter.

They clashed also with the president on his spending policies, first in private, and when that failed to gain results, in public.

The "last straw" for many of the critical Democrats, particularly those from the southern wing of the party, was the wage-hour bill. It drew from the lips of Harrison the first caustic criticism of Roosevelt policies he ever had uttered in public.

The court row did not develop the factionalism in the house that it did in the senate, where it centered. But the wage-hour bill did. It was blocked in the powerful house rules committee, usually an administrative adjunct, by a combination of southern Democrats and Republicans.

Despite the support of some who later broke with him on other issues, the president was able to muster the support of only half the Democrats on the senate judiciary committee for his court bill. On the floor the division was almost even at the time the measure was side-tracked.

Picnics and dinners held to smooth over party differences have been in vain. The day after a "harmony dinner" in honor of Barkley, the Democrats divided fiercely over anti-labor legislation.

New Alignment
Privately, leaders of both factions have agreed the differences were too fundamental to be so easily smoothed over. But few have been willing to forecast the outcome of the split.

Observers have talked freely of a new political alignment resulting from the situation. There has been talk of a coalition between conservative Democrats and Republicans, and of reprisals by the administration against Democratic revolters.

Perhaps the difference can be ironed out. President Roosevelt in his address yesterday, however, gave no sign of surrender. Referring to the "Modern Macaulays," he said:

"They love to intone praise of liberty, to mouth phrases about the sanctity of our constitution—but in rule they bear the distrust majority will not tolerate the abuses which a privileged minority would seek to foist upon the people as a whole."

Observers noted that the most conspicuous defense of liberty and the constitution in recent months came from democratic framers of the adverse committee report on the Roosevelt court bill.

While the president did not disclose whether he had those men in mind, his words hinted he might be ready to take his policies to the nation in a life-and-death battle for political supremacy.

Two Fined for Driving Unregistered Vehicles

Harry B. Kellogg, Green Bay, pleaded guilty of operating an unregistered automobile when he appeared in municipal court yesterday afternoon and was fined by Judge Thomas H. Ryan $10 and costs with an alternative of 15 days in the county detention camp. He was arrested by county police Monday in the town of Grand Chute.

Joseph Bauman, Brillion, arrested Monday in the town of Kaukauna by county police, pleaded guilty of driving an unregistered truck, and Judge Ryan fined him $5 and costs with an alternative of 15 days in the county detention camp. Bauman said he was an agent of Robert Geiger, Brillion.

Gunman Gets Dollar and Car From Tavern Keeper

Madison—Peter Pearson, tavern operator, surrendered his car and $1 to a robber early today, he reported to police. The gunman, he said, was hiding in the rear seat of his automobile when he entered it to drive home. Pearson returned to the tavern and got the day's receipts he had left there.

Sees World Travel As Way to Peace

Barriers of Nationalism Still Strong, Kane Tells Kiwanis Club

A plea for more international travelers as the best way of promoting peace was made by Arthur F. Kane, world-famous traveler, lecturer and journalist, before the Kiwanis club yesterday noon at the Conway Hotel.

Modern transportation, Mr. Kane said, has broken down the barriers of distance, but the barriers of intense nationalism are as strong as ever.

Mr. Kane described the most recent of his several long journeys, a journey from Mexico to Japan, through the eastern part of China, down to the Dutch East Indies, and from there overland to Berlin through Siam, India, Afghanistan, Persia, Arabia and central Europe. This was the first trip on record in which the crossing of the globe was made entirely by land.

After his lecture Mr. Kane answered questions of the club. When asked his opinion of the current clash between Japan and China, he gave the Chinese more than a fighting chance, especially if they could prolong the struggle, adding that what Chinese troops he had seen were German-trained.

Japanese Send New Army to Halt Chinese Attack

known. The bombs apparently were aimed at a power house.

American consular authorities took a firm stand against a Japanese naval plan to take complete control of the river Whangpoo, by which foreigners must be evacuated to the sea.

United States Consul General Clarence E. Gauss decisively told Japanese naval authorities traffic between Shanghai and Wosung—the gateway to the sea and safety for thousands of Americans—must be absolutely unrestricted.

Other foreign authorities were understood to have taken a similar stand.

Just afternoon the reinforced Japanese army launched an offensive against the Chinese lines linking strategic Kiangwan with the Wosung forts.

Reinforcements were being rushed here for the international settlement guard. The arrival of 1,200 additional French troops from Indo-China was expected momentarily. They will bring the total of foreign troops in Shanghai to approximately 7,000, with 4,000 more on the wayships lying in the harbor.

The United States has 1,900 marines, Great Britain 2,100 soldiers and France 1,700 soldiers and sailors.

Foreign communities already have gone on wartime rations. The American club, which has become the great downtown center of American interests, is feeding huge numbers of people. The usually elaborate menus, however, have been cut down to soup, beef stew and bread.

More than 400 Americans and other foreigners were stranded at the mountain resort of Kuling when the Chinese blockaded the Yangtze river at Chinking to prevent the Japanese navy from operating against Hankow and Nanking.

Most of them are missionaries, business men, school teachers and students of the American school. Their families are widely scattered throughout China and the paralysis of almost all normal means of communication has left the Americans isolated.

Student Registration Up 150 at High School

Up to today, 1,391 registrations have been received at Appleton high school, an increase of about 150 over the number who enrolled last September. It is expected, however, that from 30 to 50 of those registered will not attend this fall, making the enrollment increase about 100. The expected 1,350 students this fall represents a gain of 230 since 1934. At the present time 493 sophomores, 498 juniors, and 366 seniors are registered, with 4 of last year's graduates returning for post-graduate work. Last year a senior class of 321 was graduated.

State Is Headed For New Record in Highway Deaths

Report Three Traffic Fatalities for Every Day Of This Month

With an average of three traffic deaths occurring every day in Wisconsin the state is apparently headed for a new record in highway fatalities and destruction for August, according to a notice received today by F. R. Appleton, county highway commissioner, and chairman of the Outagamie county Street and Highway Safety council, from the state highway commission.

July saw the number of accidents at a standstill and the list of fatalities falling off, but the first day of August saw the heaviest traffic kill recorded in the state since Memorial day's bloody register. The wave of accidents spread over the entire state during the first two weeks of August.

Deaths have been reported during the first 14 days from Barran, Brown, Columbia, Dane, Dodge, Eau Claire, Juneau, Kenosha, La Crosse, Manitowish, Milwaukee, Racine, Rock, Sauk, Trempealeau, Waupaca and Wood counties. Seven were killed while riding motorcycles, and five had their lives crushed out on railroad crossings.

State highway accident reports contain little space for details of these tragedies but from the meager information on August reports, safety workers can picture some of these scenes that brought grief and suffering to Wisconsin homes:

A 2-year-old boy, seeking relief from heat, crawls under an ice truck to catch the dripping water in his month. The driver of the truck, unaware of the child's act, drives out of the yard, crushing the child's body beneath the truck wheels.

A doctor hurrying to answer a call, makes the wrong turn onto a county road, and realizing his mistake, tries to turn back into the main highway. His wheels dig into loose sand and the car turns over two and a half times, destroying a useful life that had been devoted to the saving of others from pain and suffering.

Foreign Tariffs Bother Western Lumber Exports

Commerce Department Told of Handicap of Discriminations

Washington—(AP)—A special lumber survey committee informed the commerce department yesterday exports of lumber from the west coast are "most decisively handicapped by foreign discriminations."

The committee, composed of economists and lumber men, said this constituted a "stringent and pressing" problem.

The committee said the lumber industry "has gradually worked its way to more satisfactory basic condition after the sequence of upheavals during the past nine months."

years, has achieved a degree of world fame in his old age by having his picture engraved on a new set of nine stamps from this low state of Kelantan.

Since 1891, Sultan Sir Abdul Hamid Halim Shah has reigned, though the actual government head at Alor Star now is Regent Tun Sri Mahmud, because the sultan is too sick to serve.

Kedah, like Kelantan, has a British adviser named Hull. It is on the west coast of the Malay peninsula, is smaller in area than Kelantan, but has a larger population. It produces about the same stuff.

Denominations of the new set are: 10-cent sepia and ultramarine, 12-cent deep purple and black, 25-cent maroon and ultramarine, 30-cent carmine and green, 40-cent maroon and black, 50-cent blue and sepia, $1 green and black $2 sepia and green, $5 carmine and blue.

The sultan traces his family back to an adventurer named Long Junus, a Malay who is supposed to have come "from the east" many hundreds of years ago, settled on the Kelantan coast and founded the clan.

Kelantan is really a very old state—and still pretty much jungle. In the 13th century it is said to have been subject to the great Buddhist kingdom of Sri Vijaya; in the 14th century it was under the Javanese.

Say Road Funds Used For Other Purposes

Washington—(AP)—The bureau of public roads announced yesterday nearly 16 cents of every state tax dollar collected from highway users was assigned to non-highway uses. Criticizing the diversion of funds, the bureau declared: "These taxes have been justified on the grounds they are for building and maintenance of good roads over which the vehicles must travel. Any other use detracts materially from the upkeep for which the motoring public is paying."

The amounts of motor vehicle revenues allocated by states for state highway purposes, for local roads and streets, and for non-highway purposes included: Wisconsin, $15,431,000; $8,784,000; and $4,335,000.

in labor, market and shipping conditions. The report said that the present levels of lumber prices probably will be maintained.

Lumber stocks at mills on July were estimated at 7,600,000,000 feet, about 33 per cent less than stocks on Jan. 1 and unchanged from July 1, 1936.

Lumber consumption during the first half of this year was reported at 12,900,000,000 feet, and anticipated consumption in the third quarter was set at 6,500,000,000 feet.

For this entire year, consumption of between 26,000,000,000 and 28,500,000,000 feet was predicted, a gain of 12 to 15 per cent over 1936.

Council Votes 15 Per Cent Increase In Fire Insurance

Aldermen Hear Protest From River Drive Residents Against Pool

What Council Did:

Approved 15 per cent fire insurance coverage increase on city buildings and contents.

Awarded contract of $13,826.70 to Koepe Bros. for paving E. Lowe street from E. South River street to E. Maple street.

Accepted recommendation of $1,049 reduction in paving assessment against Fox River Paper Co.

Received protest from River drive residents against construction of a swimming pool in Fox river opposite their property.

Deferred paving of W. College avenue from Linwood avenue to Outagamie street and W. Packard street from N. Division street to N. State street but affirmed assessments.

Named Dr. D. M. Gallaher to fill unexpired term of Frank B. Young on library board.

Fire insurance on city buildings and contents will be increased 15 per cent because rising building costs have increased their values. It was decided at a meeting of the common council in the city hall last evening. Premiums total $1,399.47 on a 3-year basis for the new plan while the current rate was $1,216.93.

A communication from the Appleton Insurance board stated the new cost of premiums still is less than the $1,459.02 paid three years ago. Alderman W. H. Vanderheyden moved an additional $5,000 be placed on the contents of the street department building and the suggestion was referred to the finance committee with power to act. The additional insurance will cost about $50.

Koepe Bros. construction company was awarded a $13,826.70 contract for paving S. Lowe street from E. South River street to E. Maple street, a distance of five blocks.

Fix Assessments

The board of public works recommended a $1,049 reduction in paving assessments against the Fox River Paper Co. for improving S. Lowe street and the report was adopted after Attorney Mark Catlin, Jr., appeared for the company and said the reduction was not sufficient. The company has appealed to the circuit court from an original assessment of $5,500 and Catlin said the paper firm asked a minimum reduction of $1,900. He said the company would receive no benefit from the proposed paving but would pay for grading and graveling the street if the project were deferred.

Protest Signed

A protest signed by 18 River drive residents against construction of a swimming pool on the north side of the Fox river opposite their property was received. They declared resultant noise would be a nuisance, that it would decrease property values and it was the last bit of unspoiled land adjacent to the river in Appleton. It was referred to the special Lutz park committee.

Defer Paving

Paving of W. College avenue from Linwood avenue to Outagamie street and W. Packard street from N. Division street to State street was deferred until next spring but assessments for the projects were declared after no objections were heard. Chloride will be placed on Packard street.

Request Received

A request was received from the fire department for full restoration of salaries reduced during the depression. A protest from property owners on Prospect avenue from Pine street south against construction of a sidewalk was sustained. The request of the Wisconsin Distributing company for abandonment of an alley was granted.

Reject Bids

Bids for sewer laterals on W. College avenue and S. Lowe street were rejected and the work will be done by the board of public works. A carload of gasoline will be bought from the Bell Oil and Gas company at 6633 cents a gallon. The $327 bid from J. A. Croll, 315 W. Wisconsin avenue, for painting and varnishing the interior of the city hall was rejected.

An ordinance will be drawn prohibiting use of all kinds of street and sidewalk vending. The ordinance was recommended by the board of health in an effort to control ice cream vending streets about W. College avenue.

Charles DeBorck, president of the trades and labor union, urged the aldermen to make provision for organized labor on the proposed fieldhouse at the Spencer street athletic field. A request from the Appleton Red Sox football team to use

LEAVES BOARD

The resignation of Frank P. Young, above, from the library board was accepted last night by the common council and Mayor Goodland appointed Dr. D. M. Gallaher to fill his unexpired term. Mr. Young, former county superintendent of schools, is leaving for Rhinelander.

Young Quits Post On Library Board

Served 17 Years; Dr. D. M. Gallaher to Fill Term

Serving since 1920, Frank P. Young, 209 E. Kimball street, submitted his resignation from the library board to the common council at a meeting last evening and Mayor John Goodland, Jr., appointed Dr. D. M. Gallaher to fill the unexpired term.

Mr. Young, whose term was to expire in 1938, resigned because he is to be located at Rhinelander during the coming school year. In resigning, Mr. Young said "May the library continue to serve the public as efficiently as it has for so many years. I feel confident it will since its physical equipment and staff have improved so materially in recent years."

Oiling of Three Miles of Waupaca Streets Approved

Deny Tavernkeepers' Petition to Sell Liquor In Bottles

Waupaca—Plans were confirmed for an oiling project covering nearly three miles of city streets at a meeting of the city council Tuesday night.

Bids have been received for the job and contracts awarded by the Waupaca county highway commission.

The commission proposes to furnish 300 cubic yards of gravel at $300 and 5,400 gallons of asphalt for an asphalt turnover mat on Elm street. Assessments for the work have been fixed at 9 cents a foot with the exception of Elm street, which is 20 cents a foot.

Deny Petition

A petition from tavernkeepers requesting they be allowed to sell liquor in bottles or broken packages was denied after Alderman Weatherbee asked it be granted and Alderman Erickson moved the minority report be accepted. The motion was lost and the majority report accepted.

Maple street sewer lines will be laid along the curb line instead of the center of the street to avoid digging up the street when repairs are made. An extra band concert will be given by the city band, according to Leo Kostuck, president of the band, Aug. 26 in return for cooperation of the council and business men. The tenth and last scheduled concert will be played this evening.

Streets to be improved with oil are High street from Fulton street to a point 900 feet south in Center street from Franklin to N. Fulton, Franklin from Granite to Badger, Sessions from Main to Franklin, Washington from Granite to county trunk K, Waupaca from Division to Oak, Pine from north line of the Erickson lot to intersection with East Fulton, Oak from Mill to Ware, Ware from Oak to intersection with east switch track, Oborn from Ware to bridge on Shear, Division from Mill to footbridge, East Fulton from State to Oborn, West Badger from intersection with South Main to its intersection with South Franklin, Pleasant street from intersection with Franklin to Washington, Fifth from School to Lake, Harrison from Granite to Fulton and Simcox from Granite to North.

Dr. F. M. Welsh, Prairie du Chien city physician, said that a solution such as the boy claimed his uncle took could leave deposits of poison in the system.

Dr. F. L. Kozelka, Madison toxicologist, found organs of Shaw's body contained a considerable amount of poison, Dr. S. B. Pessin, Madison, pathologist, reported the medical record indicated "shaw might have died of poisoning."

Harold remained in jail today, held on a delinquency charge. Sheriff Oliver White of Crawford county said the boy had re-enacted the slaying.

9 Cities in Country Named Appleton, New Postal Guide Shows

There are nine cities named Appleton in the country, according to the new official postal guide which has been received at the postoffice. Further proof that people of this country lack imagination when naming their cities is in the fact that there are two Green Bays, two Fond du Lacs, two Milwaukeees and even two Oshkoshes in the United States.

The official postal guide is the first to be issued in two volumes. The first volume contains information of interest to the public and postal employees relative to domestic matters, and it also contains a complete list of all United States postoffices. The second volume has information about international postal matters.

Other Wisconsin cities having duplicate names in other states are Madison 26, Racine 6, Superior 9, Wausau 2, Niagaras 3, Cascade 11, Beaver Dam 4, La Crosse 8, and Jefferson 17.

Says Orla Shaw Used Poison to Treat His Boils

Harold Best Tells How Uncle Treated Himself With Drug Remedy

Prairie du Chien — (P)—Harold Best, 15, who authorities say confessed shooting his 11-year-old sister, Mildred, to death, said today his uncle, Orla Shaw, frequently treated himself for boils with a solution that contained poison.

This might explain, the youth said, why traces of poison were found in Shaw's body by pathologists who exhumed it recently. Shaw died June 18, two weeks after the girl was found dead in bed at the Shaw home.

Harold said he often heard his uncle say "you have to fight poison with poison" as he took the solution to cure boils. The boy said it was a well known home remedy sold by drug stores.

Dr. F. M. Welsh, Prairie du Chien city physician, said that a solution such as the boy claimed his uncle took could leave deposits of poison in the system.

Dr. F. L. Kozelka, Madison toxicologist, found organs of Shaw's body contained a considerable amount of poison, Dr. S. B. Pessin, Madison, pathologist, reported the medical record indicated "shaw might have died of poisoning."

Harold remained in jail today, held on a delinquency charge. Sheriff Oliver White of Crawford county said the boy had re-enacted the slaying.

Mother Saves Girl From Drowning; Bears Son Later

Clinton — (P)—Slightly-built Mrs. Glenn McGow, who gave birth to a 61-pound son six hours after plunging into a well to rescue her two-year-old daughter, said today she hoped "I will never get that close to so much water again."

Mrs. McGow, 30, wife of a relief worker, explained she always had a "deathly fear" of water and never even enjoyed wading.

"But I forgot all about that when I saw Mary Nell fall," Mrs. McGow said. "I ran about 25 feet, looked down and saw her blue eyes. I couldn't stand that and jumped in head first."

The well contained eight feet of water, and Mrs. McGow is only five feet, two inches tall.

A son, Charles, 11, who was drawn up water prior to the mishap, threw a rope to his mother, held the other end and screamed for help. His sister, Joyce, 9, ran for her father a quarter of a mile away.

Dick McLeish, a neighbor, heard Charles, hurried to the scene and held the woman and her child above water until four men lifted them out.

Mrs. McGow was unconscious two hours after the rescue and gave birth to the boy four hours later yesterday. The baby was born three weeks prematurely.

Physicians said Mrs. McGow, Mary Nell and the baby were "out of danger" today.

Youth's Plan to Kidnap Pilot Is Thwarted in Air

Wanted to "Fly Somewhere To Look for Work," Boy Tells Officers

Houston, Texas — (P)—Boyish Jack Hamerly, who "wanted to fly off somewhere to look for work," awaited a preliminary hearing today on charges he kidnaped an airplane pilot while 2,000 feet in the air.

The hearing will be held Monday before Justice of the Peace J. M. Ray, before whom complaints were filed charging 19-year old Hamerly held up a taxicab driver, Bill Ray and kidnaped pilot Bob Hunt.

Detectives Arch Spradley and Ira Williams related the youth admitted he intended to force Hunt to take him to Laredo, where he wanted to find a job.

Pilot Hunt meanwhile was telling how he managed to thwart Hamerly's plans.

"We took off and I climbed to about 1,000 feet. Suddenly Hamerly punched me. He was seated next to me in the small plane.

"I turned and saw he had a pistol in his hand.

"I raised my hands. The plane started going up. 'Put your hands on the controls,' he commanded.

Hunt said his passenger ordered him to fly to Laredo to which he protested because he had no money and very little gasoline.

"Never mind, we'll mooch some gasoline," the pilot quoted Hamerly.

Hunt landed in a pasture near Rockledge.

"We came up on some negroes picking cotton and tried to find someone who could get us some gas. We were referred to the farm owner. We were talking to him when Hamerly turned his back to me. I jumped on him, pinned his arms and disarmed him."

Officers soon came to arrest Hamerly.

The accused youth persuaded Pilot Hunt to take him up in the ship as a prospective student pilot after driving to the airport in the cab taken from Ray.

Want Projected Workers Election At Allis Chalmers

A. F. of L. Asks That Election Be Held on a Craft Basis

Washington — (P)—American Federation of Labor leaders asked the labor relations board today to order a projected election at the Allis Chalmers corporation's Milwaukee, Wis. plant held on a craft basis.

They protested against granting the United Automobile Workers' petition for an election to determine whether that CIO union should represent all the employees in the plant.

William Green, A. F. of L. president; John P. Frye, president of the metal trades department; Charlton Osburn, chief counsel; Arthur Wharton, president of the machinists; and Daniel Tracey, president of the electrical workers sat in the hearing room while Joseph Padway of the Wisconsin Federation of Labor argued for the crafts.

Padway maintained that blanketing all the 8,000 Allis Chalmers employees into an industrial union would rob skilled craftsmen of both legal and economic rights. He maintained the Wagner labor disputes act did not give the board unqualified right to select "the appropriate bargaining unit."

Lee Pressman, chief CIO counsel, and Max Geline, attorney for the auto workers, told the board that A. F. of L. craft unions tried in vain for several years to break into the plant. The federation, they said, was successful in organizing about 2,000 workers only after these workers were grouped into a single local unit.

They said that when this federation local bolted to the United Automobile Workers, its membership increased almost immediately to 7,500.

Insurgent Army Moves Easily Into Santander

No More Enemy to Oppose Advance, Franco's Camp Reports

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier — (P)—The Spanish insurgent high command asserted today that Santander's outlying defenses, to the southwest of the Biscaya seaport, had "melted away" while the insurgent attackers ploughed to within 20 miles of their goal.

The five-day push toward Santander, the government's last city stronghold on the bay of Biscaya, was estimated to have brought capture of 10,000 of the stubborn defenders.

The government positions have been surrounded and gobbled up by the relentless thrusts of Generalissimo Francisco Franco's infantry, artillery, tanks and planes.

The insurgent column on the Palencia road to Santander, twin of the force operating on the parallel Burgos road to the east, was reported by the insurgent communiques to have taken positions dominating the village of Las Fraguas on a short distance north of Las Arenas, which fell to their drive yesterday.

The headquarters report asserted "there is no more enemy to oppose our advance. The operations Wednesday could be called a practical march."

Government reports acknowledged the insurgent gains, in part, but declared the Santander troops, bolstered by detachments of dynamite-throwing miners from Asturias, were putting up a heroic resistance.

The government has described the insurgent force as built around the Italian "Black Arrow" brigade, in the San Pedro Del Romeral sector on the Burgos road, about 20 miles from Santander, the government troops staged a brilliant counter-attack and recaptured positions near Val de Flores, Zarzosa and Cruz del Marques, the Madrid-Valencia communique asserted.

The radio station at Salamanca, Franco's general headquarters, broadcast a report that the general staff of the Santander defense forces had fled from the theater of battle back to Santander.

This, a radio commentator said, precipitated surrender of two government infantry battalions and a machine gun company.

Seeks Repeal of State Bank Deposit Fund Law

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

Madison — Repeal of the state bank deposit fund law, which imposes a tax of one per cent on village bank deposits to guarantee such deposits has been proposed by President J. S. Dougherty of the village of Suring and will be before the convention of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities next month, according to F. N. MacMillan, executive secretary. Dougherty claims that the state guarantee is unnecessary since the federal deposit insurance act covers funds up to $5,000.

The resolution proposed by the Suring president states that the tax is 11 per cent, but MacMillan pointed out that it has recently been reduced.

The League's annual convention will be held in Fond du Lac September 16 and 17.

Accidents Steal 2 Million Days in Badger Factories

21,000 Mishaps Reported In Wisconsin Plants Last Year

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison — Accidents are the thieves of time for the workers in Wisconsin's manufacturing industries, according to the state industrial commission, which this week reported that Wisconsin's factory workers last year lost 2,301,771 days of work as the result of 20,926 accidents.

Employers, through their insurance companies, paid out a total of $2,824,252 for indemnity and $931,737 for medical aid as a result of the accidents, the commission reported. A total of 169 employees were killed or died from injuries during the year, a crop of 48 below the toll of a year before.

Most tragic phase of the accident report, H. A. Klemm, commission director of safety education, pointed out, is that 70 per cent of the more than 20,000 accidents could have been prevented by simple methods without retarding efficiency. Utopia in industrial safety is still distant, the report makes clear.

Klemm observed, on the basis of the commission's figures, that the statement generally believed that industries have solved the accident problem is misleading.

"Tiny Scratch Is Problem
Major factor in accident cases which become serious is the 'little' scratch, or the 'tiny' puncture, or the 'slight bump,' Klemm said. In many cases the worker is handicapped or crippled for life.

"Many of our so-called 'minor' injuries have caused years of horrible suffering often resulting in insanity before death for the victim in addition to the money cost involved for medical aid and indemnity," he said.

Sixteen years ago machine accidents led with 21 per cent of all industrial accidents handled by the commission. Today only 12 per cent of the accidents handled are of this classification, and about 81 per cent of all accidents presented for adjudication belong to the classification commonly referred to as "handling materials," so called minor injuries

Trailer Never Intended As Permanent Residence

BY CARL W. MASON

Ladysmith — A short time ago a young man residing in New London inspected my house trailer and remarked that he expects to obtain one shortly and move into it with his wife and child. "Why pay rent when I can live in a trailer so much more cheaply," he said to me?

A great many other Americans are incubating similar ideas and many are putting them into practice. And these are the persons who will soon be bearing the burden of restrictive and generally unfavorable legislation and local police, health or other civic rules. They are the persons who will be regarded as evaders of taxes and civic responsibilities and against whom the main effort will be directed to bring them back into line. The idea is well defined among trailer owners that those who use the vehicles merely as a means of vacation travel, for going south in the winter, for week end trips, hunting and fishing jaunts and such will not be subjected to so much regulation and hampering at the hands of authorities.

Most trailer manufacturers are quoted as snorting disgustedly at the idea the trailer is intended as a permanent home. "What we're selling," Arthur G. Sherman of Detroit, father of the present day trailer, is quoted as saying, "is a vacation." President Wolfe of the Silver Dome company, remarks "the lack of privacy and room would soon have the average family at one another's throats" if an attempt were made to house a family permanently in a trailer.

I have just returned from a visit in Minneapolis where I parked the trailer in the large municipal camp in Minnehaha park. I found the city still seething with the pro and con trailer controversy that has resulted in some notably restrictive legislation by the city health department. It is forbidden to park a trailer on private property anywhere in the city and live in it. One may sleep in a trailer, but even then it is parked on a friend's or relative's premises with full permission and even the desire of the owners, cooking may not be done there. The plea for this drastic and, I must admit, decidedly foolish regulation is sanitation. Instead of simple sensible rules for handling garbage and waste around a trailer a blanket prohibition is laid down and Minneapolis begins to get onto the pass-by list of the increasing army of nomads.

Ire Was Aroused
What seems to have precipitated the trouble in Minneapolis was the fact that numbers of citizens began to move out to the camps into trailers to escape paying rents, the camp fees being comparatively low and the general cost of living less than in city homes. This aroused the ire—naturally—of real estate renters and sellers, restaurant owners, apartment house interests and others. And it is these factors in the business world, along with hotel keepers and others directly affected by the trailer who are the backbone of the movement to lay heavy legal hands on the supposedly care-free dwellers in the homes on wheels. It is estimated, in an article in Fortune magazine, that fully 10,000 laws and regulations will be laid down this year by state and local authorities to regulate trailering. The majority will, of course, have to do with safety devices on the cars and trailers themselves and with the conduct of trailer camps. These are natural and proper steps that will not be resented. But attempts to strike at the trailer to protect the interests of hotel and real estate men and such will arouse a campaign from the trailer army and the vast commercial interests which back it that may back fire on the would-be regulators disastrously unless they use common

Require Permits For Carrying Fish, Game Into State

A warning to hunters and fishermen that permits are needed from the Wisconsin Conservation Department before they can bring fish or game into the state was issued today. A special law requires such a permit to prevent confusion in the enforcement of Wisconsin's conservation laws.

Hunters planning out-of-state expeditions must first apply to the conservation department for a permit to bring in game. On their return they must report the game they brought with them. In all cases game must be taken legally in another state before it can be brought into Wisconsin.

The Wisconsin law on interstate transportation says:

"No person shall transport or cause to be transported, or deliver or receive or offer to deliver or receive for transportation, into or through this state, any game or game fish or carcass or part thereof from any other state in violation of the laws of such state relating to the transportation thereof; nor any game or game fish or carcass or part thereof lawfully transported from any other state, nor have the same in his possession or under his control, during the closed season or in excess of the limitations prescribed for such animal in this chapter, unless a permit therefor has been duly issued to such person sense and realize that so great a movement as the trailer boom with its attendant boost to general industry and prosperity cannot be stopped or unduly hindered.

UNION AGAINST THE PROGRESSIVES

Leading Democrats and Republicans in Wisconsin who are opposed to the Progressives, and particularly to the LaFollette, are trying to formulate some plan whereby they may combine forces, to achieve victory in the state. For this purpose they are sending out letters inviting opinions and discussion.

The task is a hard one. It is made doubly difficult by the fact that so many thousands of people in this state, both Republicans and Democrats, are desirous of maintaining an organization which will be helpful to the national parties, and opinions are never going to agree whether the national situation should overshadow the state, or vice versa.

The Progressives have been quite successful in Wisconsin, largely, we think, because they have had capable leadership. That capable leadership has been possible only because men have taken up the profession of politics more or less as a life vocation, studied the problems involved searchingly, and become so well versed in our laws, our government, our methods, our troubles, and the value or worthlessness of various cures that they have attracted much public support from sources that are quite critical of those whom they support.

The opposition to the Progressives in Wisconsin needs leadership and needs it badly.

From what source is this leadership to be obtained?

It seems that that is just about as important a question as the proposed coalition will have to decide if it really expects to ever fix its eyes upon the palace of success.

Collaring some man, whether from the ranks of labor or capital, the farm or the bank, and pushing him forward to the seat of rulership because his name may be well known or his record spotless, may bring temporary success, but certainly nothing more.

And the coalition, if actuated by the patriotic motives we are sure it will submit to the people, should also be singularly interested in the fact that any such man, inexperienced in legislation, who doesn't even know the names of five important bureaus or commission, who has little conception of the state's extensive institutions, would actually fail to deliver to the people while in office the kind of government of which democracy is capable when run with the head more than the feet.

Government is a profession. Trained men will do better for the people than untrained men. The reason is never so pressing yet just as sound as that which directs that our graduates of Annapolis and West Point, or officers and men who have served in our armed forces for years, shall be in charge of operations when the smoke from bombs clouds the sky.

THE LAST WORD IN BERMUDA

The Bermuda parliament called in session this week faces as difficult and trying a program as now drives our own congress to distraction.

They are trying to put over a New Deal down at Hamilton. The last time they tried their shenanigans in 1931 parliament beat the proposal over 2 to 1.

This time the governor is declared to have privately and separately interviewed the law-makers to obtain support for the proposal.

And that proposal is none other, drastic and radical as it may appear, than a law to permit the governor the special privilege of importing and using on the hard coral Bermuda roads an automobile, although the governor in a great burst of democratic spirit is willing to limit the use of the car to "the performance of his official duties."

About ten years ago the Bermuda parliament in a moment of weakness, and mayhap of corruption, allowed an American who had been treated in a friendly way, perhaps to the reduction of his income taxes here, to present a motorized ambulance to the hospital. But beyond that the law-makers have stood firm.

They want no more honking down there. As signifying their independence, and they are otherwise loyal Britishers, a member of parliament has just declared he would not even vote to permit the King of England to use a car on Bermuda's roads.

And that certainly is the last word.

A DIFFICULT JOB OF REPORTING

News of ominous import comes out of China. Each day's dispatches help to confirm an impression that a great struggle may be developing.

However, the newspaper reader should understand that information trickling out of China is sketchy, at best.

American correspondents in China are trained observers. It is the crack men in newspaper business who draw foreign assignments. Representatives of the great news agencies and of the metropolitan dailies that can afford to send men abroad tell the story as they see it.

And, as they are permitted to tell it. Apparently, and reading between the lines, rigid censorship of cable dispatches has been established.

Too, the reader will understand that the correspondent in China faces severe handicaps. He is set down in a vast land. He must depend, in some measure, upon the trustworthiness of interpreters. He cannot hope to master all of the dialects that are in use in the areas which, apparently, are affected in this latest crisis. The local newspapers are of little help to him. Objective reporting of the news hardly is a newspaper tradition in the Far East. Means of communication are limited as compared with American standards. They can be tampered with.

It is likely that the correspondent in Shanghai, for instance, has little more exact information concerning a developing crisis in Peiping or Tientsin than would a correspondent in Detroit who sought to learn the course of events in Chicago if all wires were down, if he had an imperfect knowledge of languages spoken in his locality and less knowledge of dialects peculiar to many Chicagoans, was forced to depend upon interpreters who might have little regard for the press, was required to submit all that he might write to censorship.

It is admitted that the comparison provides weak parallels. We do not have the many dialects of the Chinese. But a foreign correspondent in the United States, none too sure of his command of the language, would encounter similar difficulties in event of a crisis such as that now gripping central and north China.

It can be safely assumed that American correspondents in China are doing their best in the face of great difficulties.

In seeking to interpret and understand news dispatches one should realize that at best they can only indicate or approximate the truth.

MEMORIAL DAY IN GLOUCESTER

Codfish, salted and boxed, stands on every grocer's shelves, one of the staples of his trade.

It comes to the table, steaming in cream sauce or as delicately browned cakes. One likes codfish, or he does not.

How many, though, ever think about codfish except as a staple article of diet that is pressed into use in emergencies? Probably not many.

But, that those boxes may be stacked on grocer's shelves, men risked their lives.

This week, Gloucester, Mass. residents observed their annual "memorial day." The roll of men lost at sea during the last year was read. Flowers were cast from Blynman bridge where the Annisquam runs into Gloucester harbor.

Since 1623, when Gloucester was founded, the sea has claimed more than 5,000 fishermen.

The gray waves toss endlessly on the Banks. Fogs hang low. Storms buffet the tiny vessels that brave the sea. Sometimes great winds shriek through the rigging.

Sometimes men do not return.

There are women who weep. They know that codfish is something more than a grocery staple. It is the lure that, for more than 300 years, has carried men to their deaths.

There is romance in those boxes; aye, and tragedy.

WORD FROM DOWN BELOW

Chicago

The approaching All Star game has the natives going around in circles. Bats are flying around in the air, thicker than bats on a spree on the witches' night out. There's excitement galore in the town, what with the arrival of stars, the onrush for tickets, the interviews and write-ups and a dozen other things happening so fast and so furiously it's no wonder so many have high blood pressure. How many of you are coming in?

There's hint of rain in the air—the gossip breeze is laden with the approaching whippers. After a stifling morning trying to pound out a few bank reports in between rushes downstairs for a coke, the unbelievable freshness is heaven-sent. Nothing is quite so soul-satisfying as a ride or a walk in the rain. Or just after a rain-storm. Nor anything quite so amusing as sitting atop a loaded bus, watching the scurrying, battling crowds as a quick shower steals on the mob in a sudden fury. Amusing to those of us who were fortunate to find shelter, but not to those caught in the sprinkle.

Now that I've found ONE person in my world who, too, has itching feet and restless soul and wants to leave for places unheard of in order to satisfy that nerve-eating wanderlust, complications arise and in gleeful maliciousness pin me down for a few months. But we're certain the heraldry of spring finds us, here's hoping, anyhow, in Baked Air-spun dreams, but how much we want them to be realizations!

Men, from recent studied observations seem to be well on the highway to an almost universal cynicism. What have the luddies done to bring about that you-can't-trust-women attitude? Thank heaven, a man still keeps his mother on the pedestal!

In nine cases out of ten, the word should be PLUTOCAT. (Meow)

From the looks of figures being unearthed lately—for example: full and part time government press-agents are collecting more than $700,000 a year in salaries—it is obvious that the Democratic party isn't what it used to be. If Grover Cleveland had caught on to the idea of making the taxpayers support his propaganda agency, it is likely that McKinley, Teddy Roosevelt, Taft, Harding, Coolidge and Hoover would never have made the grade.

This doesn't, of course, include the "field workers" who spread the gospel of truth and light according to Jim Farley among the citizenry.

And still nobody from Washington shows up with a good proposition for me. The only federal communication I can remember getting was one some years ago from the internal revenue people when I thought that July 1 instead of June 15 was the tax installment date. It was a case of pay up or expect the militia.

A Verse for Today

By Anne Campbell

AT THE SUMMER COTTAGE

The vines have climbed our window screen
As if they would peep in to see
What many years of marriage mean
In this house rich with harmony.

Their friendly leaves are green and red,
I swing the windows wide, so they
May say "good night" at time for bed,
And greet me with the dawning day.

When summer goes, I will take down
The screens, and put back carefully
The errant tendrils, serene and brown,
That ran away to visit me.

And I will thank them without fail
For being neighborly and dear,
Then leave them to the wintry gale,
Certain they will stay back next year.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY M. D.

POISON PLUS POISON

According to a press report an Atlanta pathologist reported to the American Society of Clinical Pathologists, which certainly sounds a sober body, that his investigations warrant the conclusion that strychnine and corn whiskey taken together are deadly poisons, even in relatively small quantities.

Leaving to the paragraphs the humor, if any, in this observation, we comment on it here in response to numerous requests of readers.

In the first place, the poisoning described by the pathologist was poisoning of animals by alcohol and strychnine and instances of fatal poisoning of human beings by large doses of corn whiskey and strychnine or by large doses of corn whiskey taken by individuals who were in the habit of taking strychnine.

There was no reason to think that strychnine or alcohol is more poisonous when taken so combined than either drug is when taken alone, that is, in medicinal doses, under proper medical direction.

Either strychnine or alcohol (in the form of corn whiskey or otherwise, may be necessary as medicine in some circumstances, and old-time doctors believed, perhaps some old-timers still cherish the fancy, that fairly stiff doses of strychnine and whiskey "stimulated" and kept alive patients who were desperately ill with septicemia, typhoid fever, pneumonia, etc.

As house physician in a large hospital I prescribed my share of this deadly combination. Today some physicians may administer a "shot" of strychnine in an emergency, and a few still regard alcohol as a "stimulant" in spite of all scientific evidence, but probably no medical man of standing speeds the parting patient with rations of strychnine and whiskey.

Fatal poisoning of old soaks who combine overdoses of strychnine or any dose of strychnine with their booze need not detain us long. Perhaps that is as good a way as any to dispose of such human waste.

Strychnine poisoning, however, should be the concern of every humane citizen, for in the great majority of cases this frightful death comes to some innocent child who happens to get hold of some nostrum or other, such as sugar or candy-coated or chocolate coated pills or tablets of some shotgun mixture purporting to be good for the stomach, liver, bowels, nerves, tired feeling, run down condition, bad blood, etc., and depending principally on the strychnine in the formula. It is a characteristically Yankee trait that we permit the indiscriminate sale and even the public distribution of samples of such deadly medicine in Yankee-land when big business profits are concerned, who in hell cares whether a few scores of children are horribly murdered so long as the nostrum maker or vendor gets his?

Poisoning by strychnine is manifested by convulsions, spasms, out of a clear sky. The convulsions or spasms quickly bring death by cramp-asphyxia or locking of chest muscles so that breathing is impossible, or from exhaustion. There is good reason to believe that some alleged cases of "rabies" in human beings are in reality strychnine poisoning.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Alum Stick
Is it dangerous to use styptic alum pencil for razor cuts? Told it may cause infection. Had supposed alum itself sterilized. (R.H.)

Answer—It is safe to apply alum yourself, alum that no one else uses. Ordinarily better to let the little cut bleed and stop bleeding of itself, unless you're in a tearing hurry. Less you interfere, better the healing.

Pimples
For a year or more now my face has been an ugly sight with blackheads and pimples. I have tried... (Miss S.M.)

Answer—Send stamped envelope bearing your address (three cent stamp) and ask for advice for black heads and pimples, excessively oily skin, acne.

Your Birthday

"LEO"
If August 20 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., from 2:30 to 4:30 p. m., and from 7:30 to 9:30 p. m. The danger periods are from 8:30 to 10:30 a. m., from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m., and from 9:30 to 11:30 p. m.

Be careful that you do not arrive at a decidedly wrong conclusion through fallacious reasoning. Face facts honestly this day. If you would save yourself a lot of trouble, this is likely to be a poor day to depend on other persons' good things that you are able to do. It will pay you to be magnanimous this day. Do not allow envy to prompt you to withhold expressions of approval or praise when either are deserved. Be careful that pleasure does not cause you to forget some important task. Some form of amusement may make time seem to pass so quickly this day, that you won't realize its quick passage, unless you are wise enough to keep track of the hours. Married and engaged couples, as well as those who have pledged their love, will do well to bear in mind that there is nothing more irritating than unjustifiably lateness in keeping an engagement. Many a bad temper will be traceable to it this day.

If a woman and August 20 is your birthday, your intuition ought to be exceptionally keen. You are probably a deep thinker, intellectual and fond of social activities, and possibly of water sports. Do not take kindly to personal criticism, and should try to overcome any feeling of sensitiveness in this respect. Through a series of fortunate happenings, the means may be provided through which you will acquire a substantial sum of money. Possibly as an artist, musician, actress, author, tea room or shop manager, your efforts will be well rewarded in dollars and cents. Women born on this date, as a rule, find happiness in marriage and through it secure social advantages.

The child born on August 20, generally, even during adolescence, gives evidence of possessing an exceptionally high degree of intelligence, tact and an ability to make friends. Success seems to be awaiting this youngster's adulthood.

If a man and August 20 is your natal day, you ought to have a magnetic personality, a great amount of influence over other people, and the qualities of leadership. Through the stage, courtroom, journalism, engineering, medical work or salesmanship your big opportunity for advancement is most likely to come.

Seen And Heard In New York

BY GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — The conduct of night club guests in New York is uniformly good, but occasionally there enters upon the scene a disturbing influence which is quickly and effectively dissipated.

Such an occurrence took place at Ben Collada's Spanish restaurant, El Chico, the other night, and the patrons received a measure of entertainment that wasn't listed on the program.

What happened was that a large and buxom senora, with a mop of frizzly black hair and of a positively fascinating ugliness, made herself obnoxious and was tossed out. Collada had observed not 15 minutes before that "she doesn't seem to belong here."

She was Spanish and telling everybody about it. At the next table, between herself and the floor, sat the head of the Medical Arts Center in New York with two guests. A dancer from Seville was on the floor.

Suddenly the lady screamed something in Spanish and a shower of water sprayed the guests at the next table, including this innocent bystander. A lot of water splashed out on the floor and onto the dancer.

Quick as a flash the girl at the table next to our hysterical black-headed friend leaped up and screamed. The head of the Medical Arts Center wore a linen suit, and it was drenched. By this time the head waiter was on the scene. "Get her out of here or we'll leave," said the Medical Arts Center man.

"I'm getting her out as quickly as possible," the head waiter promised.

Meanwhile he entered into a hurried conversation with the frivolous one. She was very angry. Her evening had been ruined, she declared.

The master of ceremonies had announced the dancer as being from Seville, when, as everybody with a grain of intelligence could see, the fellow was not Spanish at all.

So screamed the vexed, ugly one. The funny part of it was that the dancer, having just been brought over from Spain, and unable to speak a word of English, didn't know the lady was denouncing him as an impostor.

However, the headwaiter firmly but smoothly laid the check on her table and personally helped her in to her car. She was wadded out, screaming invectives and shaking her chubby fists. She was about five feet high and she weighed about 200 pounds. The large, shaped comb in her hair had slipped from place and was dangling by a hair, so that as she made her

A Bystander In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington—The capital is so used to talking billions, that it might be a refreshing diversion to discover how close the average American family actually comes to all that money.

Let's talk a stroll over to the department of labor statistics and see Joseph Adams, who can tell you where your money goes—and mine.

Mr. Adams has been studying our pocketbook for years. He knows what's in it, and what goes out of it. He has averaged up a lot of household money jars and here is what he and others have discovered:

Roughly half of the average American families make less than $1,500 a year—or about $25.00 to $29.00 a week. That supplies a man and his wife and two children with everything from shoes to a day at the zoo.

Where It Goes

Well, what happens to all that money in a year's time? Here's what the low-wage family spends and how it spends it:

Gifts, donations, taxes	$21.74
Housing ($18.00 a month)	$217.12
Household operation	139.90
Medical care	36.69
Food ($1.09 a day)	$398.83
Automobile expense	48.21
Clothing	75.86
Other transportation	13.00
Personal care	23.73
Furniture and equipment	28.80
Miscellaneous expense	7.12
Recreation	21.22
Tobacco	25.86
Education, reading	20.28

Total $1,152.72

And, say you, what of it? We don't know, but Mr. Adams has been doing some intensive thinking about the problem. Says he: "These (low-wage) families are not unreasonable in their expenditures. They spend a little over a third of their income for food."

The rent was only about $18 a month, and they sank less than $50 in the family car during the year.

Here's What's Wrong

Then what's wrong with the average American family? It's not wine, women and song, but, as Mr. Adams can tell you, the trouble is just this:

"Management of income! The average person lacks the financial training that would lead him to set aside a portion for himself. . . . Hence, more than three-fourths of the people in this country, which at the bottom of the depression was worth $300,000,000,000 (there we go, getting into the billions again), have accumulated little or no part of its wealth."

Now, what are we going to do about it? Well, first, Mr. Adams wants to give the low-income people a little more of the long green all of us are chasing. But that is not all of it, by a jugful.

"I believe an educational program to teach low-income people how to advantageously use their income, will also have a stabilizing effect on economic security. And the economic security of any country is dependent to a certain extent upon the economic security of its citizens."

So, you see, the bold bad Communists couldn't solve our problem just by giving the underdog a bigger share in our wealth. What we've got to do if we raise everybody's salary is to teach people how to spend their money with one eye on the poor house.

Irritated Pimple May be Dangerous, Physicians Warn

Medical Society Cautions Against Tampering With Infected Areas

Madison — "Don't squeeze pimples," is the warning issued by the State Medical Society in its weekly health bulletin.

"The pimple, in spite of its harmless appearance, may be more serious than an infected appendix. If irritated by picking and constant opening to remove pus, a pimple may turn into a boil. The infection from the boil in some areas may be carried to the brain causing death.

"The circulation of the blood in that area of the face extending from the upper lip to the forehead might easily be criticized as to design. The blood in the veins is returned to the heart from this area of the face by two routes. The safer route is through the branches of the facial veins that pass outward over the cheeks to converge into the main stem of the facial vein at the angle of the jaw. The more dangerous route is by way of the angular veins passing directly backward into the skull at the inner angle of each eye, thence to the veins of the nose and forehead and the eye to the cavernous sinus, which lies at the base of the brain. In other words the infections of this area of the face may be carried back through the eye sockets to the base of the brain and thus cause death.

May Be Fatal
"Pimples result from any one of a number of causes. Fatal causes may result from squeezing an infected blackhead, pulling hair from an irritated nostril, or opening a pimple with a pin and forcing out the pus. Irritation of a small infection often makes it worse. In the case of squeezing the small pimple, the tissue, being bruised by pressure, furnishes ideal soil for bacterial growth; or bacteria may be pushed directly into the blood stream with still more rapidly dangerous results.

"The old saying, 'An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure,' should be remembered in this case. A good preventive treatment to follow is: Do not subject the face to any irritation in the presence of the least visible infection; do not squeeze; do not cut; do not pick. If this preventive treatment is followed, the possibility of serious infection will be reduced."

Pegler Thinks It's Fine Thing to Give Walker Job

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—It is a fine thing that the New York Transit commission has done in appointing Jimmy Walker assistant counsel at $12,000 a year, with the probability that, in a short time, he will receive from a grateful public a pension of from $12,000 to $16,000 a year exempt from the federal income tax.

Mr. Walker served his people faithfully day and night, but mostly at night, for many years, and it may be remembered that his resignation, under fire, was prompted not by any sense of guilt nor fear of any revelation that might have developed in a complete investigation, but by honest indignation over the denial of a defendant's rights in a hearing. By coincidence, it was Mr. Walker's own rights which seemed to him to be denied, but only an enemy of uncommonly sordid mind would think that a man of Mr. Walker's high character would put his own rights above those of any other defendant.

It was his defense of the rights of all defendants for which he had contended tirelessly for many years, particularly in the Central Park Casino after midnight, that Mr. Walker gave up his $40,000 a year job as mayor of New York and went to spend five years grieving over injustices as an abstract proposition.

"His Return to Duty"

His return to the public service after seven years' absence will be a matter of great joy to all who remember the fine zeal for official duty, the scrupulous conscience and the alertness to detect and rebuke dishonesty in office which characterized his service as mayor. It will revive memories of the fine Tammany jurists who sat upon the bench in his time, particularly of the judge who also resigned in some disgust over the denial of a defendant's rights, to wit, his own, and who later was quietly restored to duty in another department so that he, too, might qualify for a pension.

It will bring back memories of Tammany sheriffs and clerks so frugal that they were able to save out of their comparatively modest pay, or to borrow without notes or other evidence of indebtedness, enormous sums of money which they sometimes kept in marvelous tin boxes.

Mr. Walker's return to office at $12,000, and his eventual receipt of a tax-exempt pension of from $12,000 to $16,000 a year, will, in short, inspire all citizens of any decency with a new faith in the public service, and particularly in Tammany hall whose standards of honesty in office he always personified, especially after hours.

It seems almost enough to guarantee the election of old Doc Royal S. Copeland, the Tammany senator who has so often and so worthily been called the yardstick of mediocrity, to succeed Fiorello La Guardia as mayor of the city which Jimmy Walker loved so well that he made himself a scourge to thieves in office and a model of citizenship for all.

Everybody remembers what a scourge to thieves and model of citizenship Jimmy was in his time, and yet, such is the public ingratitude, there are many now who do not think he went quite far enough in harassing grafters or set the best example in his own conduct.

Public Service Is A Thankless Business

Well, it is a thankless task, the public service, and all a man gets out of it after many years of service and a cumulative cash contribution of $10,000 to the pension fund, is a paltry $12,000 to $16,000 a year, exempt from the income tax, as long as he lives.

Mr. Walker should get at least double the pension, considering that he did so much of his work at night around the Central Park Casino and in Florida and California and in suburban mansions where a man could really concentrate on public affairs.

It is a lucky thing that Mr. Walker is available now for the $12,000 a year legal job with the transit commission, because, as everyone knows, there are practically no good lawyers to be had these days to perform the duties of his new position. If he hadn't just happened to be available it might have been necessary to leave the task undone for lack of a lawyer with sufficient ability and proven character to get it done right.

You have to get just the right

6-DAY BIKE CANDIDATE

Waukegan, Ill.—Mrs. Harry Welton was a bit surprised when she looked out of the front window of her home and saw her second cousin, W. C. Bailey, 84, of Underhill, Vt., hop from his bicycle. Bailey, a retired farmer, said he pedaled to Illinois in 16 days, and made the trip "just for the ride."

BUT IDEAS DIFFER

Minneapolis—Leonard M. Grates, 25, has strong ideas on the subject of women's clothing. Applying for a divorce, one of the reasons he gave was that his wife insisted on wearing overalls and a blue denim shirt.

combination of qualities in these positions, and the greatest of these is character, preferably of the kind which Jimmy Walker demonstrated as mayor of New York, and which Samuel Seabury, to his eternal credit, made famous to a public which otherwise might never have known what sort of a man he was.

RUN DOWN CONDITIONS IMPROVED BY VITAMINS B, G AND D

IRRADIATED BREWERS YEAST A PALATABLE, CONVENIENT, INEXPENSIVE SOURCE

Not at all uncommon is the expression, "I don't know what is the matter—I just don't feel well."

This run-down condition, usually associated with lack of appetite, poor digestion and unreliable elimination, is often found by nutritional experts to be the direct result of a lack of Vitamins B, G and D.

When science discovers the cause of a condition it sets about to correct this cause and thus correct the condition. In the case of under-par people, those who just don't feel well, those who are not blessed with radiant vitality, abundant energy and "pep" to spare, the inclusion of Vitamins B, G and D with food will generally add that little spark that is so important to normal nutrition.

Vitamins B, G and D each play an important part in the digestion, assimilation and elimination of food. It is generally accepted by doctors that many cases of malnutrition are definitely caused by a lack of these vitamins. Because when Vitamins B, G and D are given to people who are run down, always tired, and lack vitality and energy, very definite improvement is usually evident within even a few days.

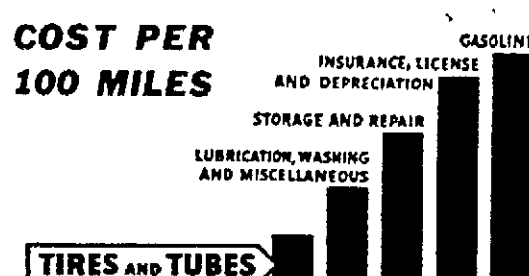

Vitamins B, G and D are all available in one convenient, tasty, inexpensive form—Ray-D Irradiated Yeast Tablets. Ray-D Irradiated Yeast Tablets need not be considered a medicine—they are really a food, rich in Vitamins B, G and D. Get a box of 200 for $1.00, or do as many are doing, buy the big economy package of 1000 for $4.50. At all druggists. (ADV.)

Map Making Is Feature Of Girl Scouts Day Camp

MAPPING of the Erb park area was done as a special project for girls working on their first class map-making tests at the Girl Scout day camp Wednesday at Erb park. Pacing, compass-work and observation notes kept the girls busy during the class period, and the maps will be completed at the next day camp Monday.

Handcraft interested a number of girls at yesterday's program, the most popular form being leather lacing. Others enjoyed in archery practice.

The day camp opened with a song period followed by patrol organization. Leaders for the day were Joan Mullen, Ann Atcherson and Carol Puth. A program of active sports and scout work was carried on during the rest of the morning including baseball, badminton, and tennis. The girls prepared the noon meal over the fire, after which the campers observed a rest hour. Quiet games were played during the first half of the rest period and the patrols worked out dramatizations for campfire during the second half.

For the campfire program Joan Mullen's patrol enacted pantomimes based on scenes in recent movies and the audience guessed the names of the movies. Carol Puth's group pantomimed song titles and Ann Atcherson's group did pantomimes of well known children's stories. The program ended with a marshmallow roast and Girl Scout good-night circle.

The fifth day camp of the season will take place Monday at Pierce park at which time complete plans will be made for an overnight trip to be held the following weekend.

On Monday McCrossens learned that Felio had cashed a check for $10 at Harrington's Shoe Store and one for $6 at Schultz Variety Store. Each check had been made out to Felio with Mr. McCrossen's name at the bottom, as if they were salary checks. Felio was arrested at his home in Waukegan Wednesday.

Waupaca County Continues Suits For Relief Money

Nearly $6,500 Returned to Treasury for Funds Paid to Indigents

Manawa—More than 60 suits to collect money owed Waupaca county in relief cases have been instituted by District Attorney Paul E. Roman against other counties and municipalities since Jan. 1. In eight cases nearly $1,500 has been paid to Waupaca county, and about 25 other cases have been settled to enrich the Waupaca county treasury with approximately $5,000 soon.

Beginning Friday morning, Aug. 20, thirteen other cases, in ten of which the defendant is Shawano county, will be brought up before the industrial commission at the court house in Waupaca. The sums involved amount to $15,282.22. Another will be heard at New London, Saturday, and two more will be brought up at Waupaca next Tuesday. One of these is the case of Waupaca county versus Milwaukee county for relief supplied to a Clintonville resident in the amount of $9,312.63.

Board Orders Action
All of these cases have been gathering dust for from three to eight years, and it was only after Roman took the office of district attorney that the county board ordered concerted action to recover sums due to Waupaca county years ago. All are relief cases in which Waupaca county seeks to recover from other counties and municipalities relief furnished indigents living in Waupaca county. These were legal residents of places now under the industrial commission, the county claims.

Acting upon a county board resolution directing settlement of old relief cases as soon as possible, Roman, L. J. Stieger, county clerk, and the county pauper committee composed of P. C. Jensen, Farmington, chairman; George Redman, town of Waupaca; Ike Peepke, New London, have been working since January.

Rule In Clintonville Case
The Clintonville case is a typical one, although the sum involved is the largest of any of those settled or to be brought before the industrial commission. The indigent is a widow with a number of dependent children who came to the city of Clintonville about 15 years ago from Milwaukee. She began receiving aid almost immediately and because of this fact her legal settlement still is Milwaukee.

The suit is in the amount of $9,312.63, which is in addition to the sum of $240.02 paid by Milwaukee county back in 1927. The defendant through its attorney, Clark J. A. Hazelwood, now denies that the relief client has legal residence in Milwaukee at the present time or within recent years. The decision of the industrial commission in this case will have much bearing on the result of many of the cases involving Waupaca county which will be brought before that body.

Children Must Learn to Control Their Tempers

BY ANGELO PATRI
"Mother, mother, come quick. Irene is in a temper and she is fighting with Jimmy."
Irene was in a rage. She was pulling Jimmy's hair; she had scratched his face, kicked and bitten him—all because he had teased her about her nose. It turned out she had the thought of it, longing for a lovely Grecian nose in its stead. Jimmy had discovered this and made a sore point of it. This time he had gone too far and Irene had gone wild.
At mother's appearance Irene let go of her victim, but she was shaking with anger and ready to begin on him again at the slightest provocation. Mother signalled Jimmy to leave the room, which he did, although eager to get in his complaint. The look in his mother's eye gave him a second thought about it and he went to wash off the marks of battle.
Mother took Irene away to her room. "Better wash your face and hands, child," she said, and turned to leave the room. Irene threw herself on the bed and burst into loud sobs. Her mother left the room shutting the door behind her. For a few minutes Irene sobbed, then she rose, washed her face and combed her hair and waited for mother to come. She was not long in coming.
"I couldn't help it, mother. Did I hurt him? I don't want to hurt him, but he made me so mad. Can't he let me alone?"
"Maybe he couldn't stop teasing you any more than you can stop beating him," said mother gravely. "You might hurt him badly. You would be very sorry. He will have to learn to control your temper or something dreadful will happen to you."
"O, I try. I make myself try hard. I shut my teeth and clench my fists, and the first thing I know, instead of going away the temper just flares up. What can I do? I try so hard."
"Never clench your fist. That's a fighting gesture. Never shut your teeth down hard. That is another fighting gesture. Never say, 'I will keep my temper,' only clenches your teeth and your fists the harder. Try to loosen your fingers, then your hands and your arms, make them loose as the flower stalks in the garden. Think, 'Easy, easy, softly, easy; swing like a flower on its stalk.' Some thought like that will let the anger run off and out."
"Maybe you know a bit of poetry, or Bible verse, that will make you feel soft and gentle and easy inside. If you do, say that. Don't let you have to try hard. There must be no thought of hardness, or the temper will surely come. Temper is a matter of nervous control and this is the way to control it."
"I'm going to lend you grandma's ring. She had a temper and she learned to control it and finally wipe it out entirely just by feeling her ring and remembering how much the person who gave it to her loved her and how badly she would feel if he should see her in a temper. I love you and I can't bear to see you in temper. Grandmother would feel the same way. Wear her ring and try to be gentle, easy and the sort of child grandma and your father and mother want you to be."

Pirates of Days Gone By
IV—Captain Kidd
Where is the treasure of Captain Kidd?
That question has been asked by great numbers of people, and hundreds have gone digging to find it. All along the Atlantic coast, as far north as Nova Scotia, there are legends of gold and jewels by the sea captain named William Kidd.

From them what valuables he could. His largest prize was called the "Queda Merchant," and it provided booty worth about $150,000. This was divided among the "Adventure" sailors.
The sailors of the "Queda Merchant" were placed safely on shore, and the vessel itself was manned by some of the sailors in Kidd's crew. Sailing to Madagascar, the "Adventure" and the other boat fell in with a vessel under command of a pirate named Culliford. Kidd treated Culliford like an old friend and gave him supplies. Some of Kidd's men deserted him, and went to work for Culliford.

Captain Kidd returned across the Atlantic and entered Long Island sound. Touching at Gardiner's Island, he buried a great deal of his treasure there. He knew he was "wanted" as a pirate, but went to Boston, and gave himself up. Later he was taken to England for trial, and was hanged.

These are the main facts I have found in Captain Kidd's life. To this day, there is a good deal of mystery about him. Some believe he was not really a pirate, but others say he was.
At his trial, Kidd defended himself by saying that the Moorish vessels he had captured had been flown the French flag. He said that he had treated the pirate Culliford like a friend only because he feared the guns of Culliford's ship. The full truth may never be known.

The treasure Captain Kidd buried on Gardiner's island was dug up soon afterward. With what was found on his ship, it had a value of $70,000. The Gardiner's island treasure is the only burial by Kidd which is certainly known to have been taken place.

The look in his mother's eye gave him a second thought about it and he went to wash off the marks of battle.
Mother took Irene away to her room. "Better wash your face and hands, child," she said, and turned to leave the room. Irene threw herself on the bed and burst into loud sobs. Her mother left the room shutting the door behind her. For a few minutes Irene sobbed, then she rose, washed her face and combed her hair and waited for mother to come. She was not long in coming.
"I couldn't help it, mother. Did I hurt him? I don't want to hurt him, but he made me so mad. Can't he let me alone?"
"Maybe he couldn't stop teasing you any more than you can stop beating him," said mother gravely. "You might hurt him badly. You would be very sorry. He will have to learn to control your temper or something dreadful will happen to you."
"O, I try. I make myself try hard. I shut my teeth and clench my fists, and the first thing I know, instead of going away the temper just flares up. What can I do? I try so hard."
"Never clench your fist. That's a fighting gesture. Never shut your teeth down hard. That is another fighting gesture. Never say, 'I will keep my temper,' only clenches your teeth and your fists the harder. Try to loosen your fingers, then your hands and your arms, make them loose as the flower stalks in the garden. Think, 'Easy, easy, softly, easy; swing like a flower on its stalk.' Some thought like that will let the anger run off and out."
"Maybe you know a bit of poetry, or Bible verse, that will make you feel soft and gentle and easy inside. If you do, say that. Don't let you have to try hard. There must be no thought of hardness, or the temper will surely come. Temper is a matter of nervous control and this is the way to control it."
"I'm going to lend you grandma's ring. She had a temper and she learned to control it and finally wipe it out entirely just by feeling her ring and remembering how much the person who gave it to her loved her and how badly she would feel if he should see her in a temper. I love you and I can't bear to see you in temper. Grandmother would feel the same way. Wear her ring and try to be gentle, easy and the sort of child grandma and your father and mother want you to be."

Culbertson Breaks Own Rule and Suffers for It

THE PROFESSOR FLUNKS
(Copyright, 1937).
The biggest hand I ever held, from the standpoint of honor tricks at least, brought me little profit. It did, however, serve another purpose. I formed a tremendous respect for my left-hand adversary who, by a maneuver, absurdly simple, yet beautifully adroit, scotched what otherwise would have been successful play on my part. Imagine, dear reader, holding a hand like the following for nothing!

The bidding:
South 5 no trump West Pass North Pass East Pass
To be quite honest about it, my opening bid of five no trump was a slight stretch. Four no trump was all my hand warranted. Partner was correct, according to the system, in raising five no trump to six with one queen. Thus, it was my fault that we landed in a slam contract. Every time I break my own rule (which isn't often) I suffer for it.

West opened the diamond jack, and when the dummy went down I made a lightning calculation of sure tricks. The four clubs, three diamonds, three hearts, and spade ace added to eleven. There was no possibility of a sixth trick, since there was no long card in a suit to be established. I had the uneasy feeling that I would have to do some tall explaining not only to my partner but to the gallery. If I had to admit defeat on a contract that my own system (misused by myself, however) had dictated.

There was precisely one chance for salvation. That was to snaffle 2 spade tricks. But this almost certainly would require two entries to the dummy for successive finessees, and dummy's club queen was the only apparent entry. Well, there was nothing to it. I had to risk going down another trick in an effort to create a second entry.
All this thought took only a moment, of course, and after winning the opening lead I rushed the club ace (praying for the miracle of the drop of the club 10), and then innocently led the deuce of clubs toward dummy. My intention was to put in dummy's nine in the hope that the 10 was on my left. I then would have finessed spades and later on, returning to the club queen, would have taken a second finesse. The plan was all right and the club 10 was where I wanted it to be, but nevertheless something happened!

West, after thinking perhaps 20 seconds, came up second hand with that tremendous club 10! It was a beautiful dastardly play. Gone was

Pirates of Days Gone By
IV—Captain Kidd
Where is the treasure of Captain Kidd?
That question has been asked by great numbers of people, and hundreds have gone digging to find it. All along the Atlantic coast, as far north as Nova Scotia, there are legends of gold and jewels by the sea captain named William Kidd.

From them what valuables he could. His largest prize was called the "Queda Merchant," and it provided booty worth about $150,000. This was divided among the "Adventure" sailors.
The sailors of the "Queda Merchant" were placed safely on shore, and the vessel itself was manned by some of the sailors in Kidd's crew. Sailing to Madagascar, the "Adventure" and the other boat fell in with a vessel under command of a pirate named Culliford. Kidd treated Culliford like an old friend and gave him supplies. Some of Kidd's men deserted him, and went to work for Culliford.

Captain Kidd returned across the Atlantic and entered Long Island sound. Touching at Gardiner's Island, he buried a great deal of his treasure there. He knew he was "wanted" as a pirate, but went to Boston, and gave himself up. Later he was taken to England for trial, and was hanged.

These are the main facts I have found in Captain Kidd's life. To this day, there is a good deal of mystery about him. Some believe he was not really a pirate, but others say he was.
At his trial, Kidd defended himself by saying that the Moorish vessels he had captured had been flown the French flag. He said that he had treated the pirate Culliford like a friend only because he feared the guns of Culliford's ship. The full truth may never be known.

The treasure Captain Kidd buried on Gardiner's island was dug up soon afterward. With what was found on his ship, it had a value of $70,000. The Gardiner's island treasure is the only burial by Kidd which is certainly known to have been taken place.

Don't Bleach Sensitive or Burned Skin

BY ELSIE PIERCE
MANY late vacationists, particularly those whose holiday is limited to two short, precious weeks make the mistake of rushing in. The rest of the year, yes, even the rest of the summer, they get very little sunning, swimming, and exercising. The result is very often a bad burn or irritated skin from sun, wind and water.

The short vacation over, there's the realization that one didn't want to turn the least bit tan, and fall with its new fashions beckoning from around the corner demand a fluffy, feminine, delicate sort of loveliness. So there's more "rushing in" in the desire to immediately bleach whatever darkening the sun has done.

It is heaping insult on injury to attempt to bleach a skin that is burned, irritated or sensitive. Even some so-called mild bleaches are drastic enough to prove slightly drying to a normal skin, much less a sensitive or dry skin.

Treat It Gently
The thing to do is to treat such a skin gently. Soothe it, soften. Have handy, even if you are a wise one and use preventive creams and lotions, a cream, lotion or unguent to relieve the stinging, burning sensation of a fresh burn. I understand that Frances Farmer came back from the beach early this summer with a painful sunburn—the kind you get when you least expect it. To soothe it she used one of those old-fashioned remedies: pale yellow Carron oil made with a lime seed oil base and mixed with a little water. If you know the preparation you know that it doesn't smell like fragrant perfume but it does soften the skin, keep it from coarsening and blistering. You can put the concoction on several times a day. It is wise to wear something washable so the oil won't do permanent damage to your clothes.

There are, of course, any number of ready-prepared creams, oils and lotions on the market which promise relief after sunburn. Your usual tissue cream is soothing and softening—in the absence of a special sunburn remedy.

Don't use soap and water, circulation stimulants, powerful astringents or any preparation that is the least bit harsh in its action on the skin. Change to a fluffy type of cream for cleansing instead of soap until the skin is normal again. When the burn and sting have abated, even then stick to the milder bleaches—the type that promise to remove freckles, blotches or make the skin peel its coat.

My bulletin on Bleaches is yours for a self-addressed, stamped (3-cent) envelope. It contains many hints for home-made bleaches, such as fruit and vegetable juices, masks, etc. Address Miss Pierce in care of the Appleton Post-Crescent.

Old Gardener Says:
BY E. I. FARRINGTON
The best time to cut gladioli spikes for arrangements in the house or for exhibition at shows is when one or two florets have opened at the base of the spike. The flowers will then open gradually from day to day and the lower florets can be removed as they fade. It is important not to cut gladioli spikes close to the ground, that is, if the bulbs are to be used another year. At least four leaves should be left to make sure that the bulb will store up sufficient food to provide for next year's bloom. The best time to cut the spikes is in the early morning or the late evening. At such times the stems contain the greatest amount of moisture and there will be less tendency to wilt than if cutting is done in the middle of the day. The bottom of the stem should be cut on a slant so that it will not rest squarely on the bottom of the container.

my potential second entry to dummy, and with it the chance for repeated spade finessses. West had reasoned superbly. He was not sure of course, that I needed two spade finessses, but it did seem highly probable to him that I would require two entries in dummy for two finessses of some description. It was possible, he realized, that the play of the 10 could be a lone one; that I had started out with a hand almost solid except for a club holding AK x x x. In that case the 10 play would be fatal because dummy's queen would drop not only the 10 but East's doubleton jack as well. That reasoning, however, did not seem as probable to him as my need for two entries, and he was right, dead right!

Women Find No Happiness In Leading Double Life

BY DOROTHY DIX
Dear Miss Dix—My husband and I have both worked ever since we were married. We now have a comfortable home and a nice car all paid for. Recently the company I worked for so long went out of business. That threw me out of a job and with nothing to do I am like a ship without a rudder. I don't need to work for money, but I don't know what to do with my time. I find out that the girls I used to go with, who are all now married, have boy friends with whom they have affairs. They take their husbands' money to buy these boys presents and say they have a grand and glorious time. I am 35, still young-looking, dress well, and am very lonesome without my work that I was used to having. I am only human. Will I fall into this awful way of living through lonesomeness?
MRS. F. G.

Answer:
Not unless you are as lacking in all principle and sense of honor as your friends seem to be. And, take it from me, you will be a lot more lonesome than you are now if you do. You will be a lot more sure of your future and turn you out of house and home.

It is true that the devil finds work for idle hands to do, particularly if they are feminine ones, so get busy about something, but don't let it be playing with fire. The woman who does that sooner or later burns her home down. Then she sits in the ashes she realizes not only how wicked she has been, but also what a fool she has been to throw away everything in life worth having for the thrill of having an illicit love affair with a contemptible cad whose attentions she had to buy.

Don't believe these women who tell you what a grand and glorious time they are having in these sort of intrigues. There is not a word of truth in it. They are filled with loathing for themselves and the despicable male parasites they are supporting. They live in dread of having their liaisons discovered and themselves disgraced. No woman ever gets any happiness out of living a double life and betraying the husband who trusts her.

It is quite true that one has worked hard for as many years as you have that one does not know how to play or what to do with leisure, but you can fill your time in with other things than work. Now that you no longer need to earn money, why don't you try to cultivate your mind? Join study clubs. Learn how to read. Go in for church work or community service. Learn to play golf or tennis or bridge. Master the fine art of cookery. There are millions of things to do if you will only look about you to find them.

The surest cure for your lonesomeness is to have a baby. If you cannot do that, adopt one. If you have a little child to take care of, time will not hang heavy on your hands. The days won't be long enough to get everything done. And the fun you will have will be clean fun, not the sort that leaves a bitter taste in your mouth.

Dear Dorothy Dix—My husband and I have been married nine years and have two children. We were very happy until five years ago, when a girl fell in love with him and began pursuing him and doing everything in her power to break up our home. In order to avoid trouble and save our happiness we moved to another city and everything was serene until a few weeks ago, when I found letters from her to him, begging him to let her come to him and saying she could not live without him, and so forth. When I showed these letters to my husband he said he loved this girl and is only living with me as he feels he is under obligation to me and the children. He is devoted to the kiddies and is a good father and husband. What must I do? Take the children and leave, or stand it for their sake?
A BROKEN-HEARTED WIFE.

Answer:
Stand pat and fight for your home. Don't let this conscienceless girl drive you out of it and take your husband away from you. Don't be like so many wives who get so panic-stricken when they find out that their husbands are philandering that they gather up their children and run to the divorce court without ever striking a single blow in their own defense. Remember that the odds are all in your favor and that you have the heavy artillery on your side.

To begin with, you are backed up by all the powers of society and convention. Men are even more afraid of Mrs. Grundy than women are. They dread being mixed up in a scandal and they know it doesn't do their business standing any good for them to forsake their lawful wives and children for some adventures.

Then you have the man's sense of duty and obligation. He is used to sticking to his bargains and is not apt to waver on his marriage contract. Women break the marriage bond far oftener than men. And most important of all, you have a father's love for his children. Every man knows that he loses his children if he divorces their mother even more than if they had died, because he loses their love and respect.

With all of these trump cards in her hand the wife could nearly always win out. She played the game skillfully enough, and if she had the patience to sit in and wait for a change of luck instead of throwing down her hand and quitting cold at the first sign of danger.

I think a wife makes a great mistake when she breaks up her home because of her husband's first little flirtation. He is just playing hockey and he will come back, humbled and chastened, to Mother if she doesn't make too much fuss over it.
DOROTHY DIX.

GOOD TASTE TODAY
BY EMILY POST

LETTERS ASKING ABOUT WEDDINGS
Dear Mrs. Post: (a) I have a young friend who would like to know if you think it permissible for her to have her mother as matron of honor. Two sisters and two friends will be bridesmaids. Her father will of course take her up the aisle and her brother is to be an usher, so the mother will be the only one left out of the bridal party unless she can be matron of honor. In this case, the mother is slender, young and attractive, which assets may influence your answer. (b) When is it best form for the congregation to rise? (c) And what about lace for the dresses of the bride and her attendants at an early fall wedding. Some one has said it is better for spring weddings, but my young friend would like to combine brown and yellow lace in the attendants' dresses and wear white herself.

Answer: (a) Under any circumstances it would be utterly improper to have the mother of the bride as matron of honor. It is true that the very smart wedding of a bride who has no father, it is possible that her mother might walk up the aisle with her, give her away, and standing beside her, fill the office of her only attendant as well but she could not possibly be considered matron of honor. If the mother takes the father's place, bridesmaids would be unsuitable and in any case the presence of the bride's mother in the bridal procession is a very unconventional procedure. (b) I can't answer for all denominations, but in all the churches I know about the congregation rises as soon as the procession starts up the aisle. (c) Lace is suitable as all seasons of the year.

Dear Mrs. Post: In this instance, the mother of the groom is having the wedding at her home and wishes to know how to word the invitations correctly. The mother of the bride lives in another city, but just the same she feels that she has the right to have her name on the invitations. I can find no form anywhere that takes care of this situation. Will you please write one.

Answer: If the mother of the bride is actually giving the wedding—in other words, if she is paying the expense of it, then the form is:

New Deal Graft, Deficits Growing, Lawrence Claims

Difficult for President to Keep Administration Weaknesses Hidden

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — President Roosevelt is finding it difficult nowadays to turn the scrutinizing eyes of the nation away from the weaknesses of his administration—the growing deficits and the growing graft—but, with characteristic ingenuity, he is beginning again to make speeches of denunciation of those who dare to disagree with him.

The president's address in North Carolina, in which he quoted at length from Lord Macaulay's letter of 1857, predicting mobocracy for America, was an interesting example of how often Mr. Roosevelt turns to the art of invective, believing that the best defense is a hammering offense.

What Lord Macaulay wrote has in it many true words about the dangers of mob rule. Much of the Britisher's prophecy has already come true, especially his picture of the "rantings of the demagogue." Likewise today the Macaulay prediction of legislatures dominated by groups of unemployed and organized malcontents is not far different from what is happening as demands on the federal treasury come from groups who pay no taxes and produce no real wealth, but who feel they have the right to confiscate the savings of others.

Mr. Roosevelt himself is unwilling to meet these demands as a statesman—precisely as Lord Macaulay predicted would be the case some day—but prefers to pour out borrowed money or to exploit the unemployed and their families so as to get enough votes to carry each election and keep himself and his henchmen in power. The president's argument that his opponents do not trust majority rule omits the important point that they do not trust artificial majorities.

Through Farleyism and misuse of public funds. Many times has the Macaulay prophecy been reprinted in recent years as a warning against the disintegration of Democratic government in the United States, and the words of the British historian have often been quoted because they seem to parallel the New Deal cycle in American history. In this connection, the Macaulay letter was fully quoted by this correspondent in these columns last November.

Macaulay Prophecy
The president brings forth the Macaulay prophecy now solely to make an attack on the imaginary position of present-day opponents. Naively, for instance, he puts these words into the mouth of his opposition of today:

"We believe with Macaulay that the American form of government will lead to disaster and, therefore, we seek a change in the American form of government as laid down by the founding fathers."

Only a few weeks ago, Mr. Roosevelt was denouncing his opposition for wishing to make no change in the American form of government, whereas he and his associates insisted that the American form of government was a flexible thing and should be changed to meet changing conditions.

But the president waves all this aside with his customary disregard of his own contradictions. It is his favorite form of warfare. In fact, he is one of the best combatants of the school of thought which believe the people do not remember from day to day, or, as Harry Hopkins once expressed it, that "they are too damn dumb" to understand anyhow.

It has been thought by many of us that Mr. Roosevelt had very little faith in the American form of government as it has existed and that he thought that majority rule had just about worn itself out. As had just about worn itself out, a matter of fact, his administration has not allowed majority rule to function, because the New Deal has used the powers of government to perpetuate itself in office, building up political machines through coercion of voters at the polls by means of threats of discontinuing relief or benefits. The last campaign and election saw scandalous evidences in many states where political machines were used to influence voters. Nor has there been much majority rule for the people in a congress brazenly made subservient to executive favor and patronage.

The main contention of those who oppose Mr. Roosevelt today, however, is that the majority party is intolerant of any views except its own. Time was when Mr. Roosevelt defended staunchly the rights of the minority. He made many speeches about minorities and insisted before he came to the White House that it was very important that minorities should not be oppressed.

Stop Investigations
Today, however, he is refusing to take the rights of minorities into account. In recent weeks, the majority power in congress has smothered and squelched investigations of wrong-doing as well as public hearings on questions on which the American people have a right to be heard.

Mr. Roosevelt says: "But we cannot go along with the tory insistence that salvation lies in the vesting of power in the hands of a select class, and that, if America does not come to that system, America must perish."

But there are many true liberals who really believe that the vesting of power in any class at all is dangerous, even if that class claims to benefit and conduct government on a basis which sees nothing wrong in having the chairman of the Democratic National committee sit in the cabinet, or recognizes no impropriety in allowing ambassadorships and ministerships and other high offices practically to be bought through campaign contributions, or condones a shake-down of corporations in violation of federal statutes.

In the hands of any one class—whether it be the "economic royalist" class, or the labor racketeer class or the political racketeer class—American Democracy is likely to be in danger. But the greatest danger of them all is suppressing the truth and attempts to divert public attention from the real illness of government. Today, the expenses of government are higher than last year, the deficits are higher than a year ago, prices are rising on every side, the poor man is going to find it harder and harder to meet living costs with the purchasing power of his dollar, and the public debt—federal, state and municipal—has now reached the unprecedented total of more than $7 billion dollars.

The administration is trying to maintain the thesis that, because the national income is rising, there is no danger in an unbalanced budget or in a rising debt. The truth is that the cost of government is growing and the figure on which our attention should be fixed is the ratio between the cost of government and the national income. Taxes, in other words, are growing at a much more rapid rate than is the national income.

In view of these serious facts, Mr. Roosevelt continues to set up straw men and bonces to lambaste in his public speeches, forgetting that the American people grow tired of name-calling as even they weary of popular songs and really would like to have from the president of the United States a definition of a constructive policy which will enable them to adjust business budgets as well as individual budgets, including particularly those of the wage earners and the small income groups, the under-privileged, who are struggling today to buy meat and food at prices made unnecessarily high through the blunders of the New Deal in interfering with natural laws.

FLAME TRAIL

SYNOPSIS: When Kay Cran- and slowly drew it from the loosened's Lazy Nine ranch house and barn burn. Josh Hastings, owner of the Flying Six, tries to buy her ranch and court Kay. But she hates him and is determined to keep her ranch. Ted Gaynor, a puncher she impulsively hired, stirs the outfit to cut its own timber and rebuild without pay. Hastings' cowhand Scrap Johnson, molests Kay, but Ted rescues her and whips Scrap. When Hastings appears, Scrap takes his horse and run and makes his get-away. Hastings pursues and at the central divide pass finds both Ted and Scrap wounded after a gun duel. He schemes his revenge.

Chapter 21
A Fight For Life
BENDING down, Josh Hastings loosened the fingers of the hand that still gripped the gun Kay had given to Ted. He held it gingerly with his bandanna, so that no touch of incriminating fingerprints could possibly get on it.

Suddenly, and without any warning, he felt Ted's dark eyes upon him. Then, as suddenly again, the lids dropped, and the body was bending over seemed as inert and lifeless as before.

Josh Hastings doubted the evidence of his own senses. But with his heart pounding suffocatingly in his ears at the memory of that strangely seeing look from those dark eyes, he held himself rigidly still.

The weird beauty of the scene was entirely lost on him, but something of the very quality of that mysterious spot from which waters eventually flowed to the Atlantic and the Pacific made his breath come quicker and raised a momentary panic in him.

He stared at Ted Gaynor's white face, watching for any further sign

All-Star Errors Help Hottentots Score 9 to 4 Win

Chalk Six Muffs Against New London Players in Softball Game

New London—Playing to the slimmest crowd of the season, the New London All-Stars Softball team lost heart and dropped a 9 to 4 decision to the Chicago Hottentots colored team in a game at the city ball park last night. Half-hearted playing on the part of the New London squad contrasted with the peppy and brilliant ball-handling of the Chicago team. Six errors in the box score failed to reveal the much greater amount of ball juggling and loose playing indulged in by the All-Stars.

The colored lads proved to be heavy hitters, two wallops in the first inning going way over "Chuck" Pfeiffer's head into the left field corner for two home runs. A triple and a sprinkling of three 2-baggers rounded out the visitor's slugging.

Leonard Hoffman tossed for the All-Stars and was taken for nine hits in the first four innings. His teammates held the invaders the next three innings and though six men reached bases in the sixth inning only one got through to score. Carl Ebert relieved Hoffman in the eighth and allowed two singles, another in the ninth Hoffman fanned five. Ebert two, while nine New London batters succumbed to the colored boy's pitching.

Stars in Field
Tip Krohn turned in a good game at shortstop, making or assisting in seven of the twenty put-outs in the infield. At bat he tied with Art Gottschalk for 2-bagger honors. His double in the sixth inning getting him no farther. Gottschalk replaced Pfeiffer in the fifth inning and walked away with the batting honors. His first time up he sank a double over shortstop's head and scored the team's third run. In the eighth he sauntered back to score Westphal who had drawn a walk.

Dernbach broke the ice in the fourth inning when he reached the sacks while the third baseman muffed his short roller. He scored on singles by Carl Ebert and Orr Krohn, leading hitters, and Ebert also scored.

The box scores:

Electrical Display to Feature Waupaca County's Annual Fair

Weyauwega—The most instructive of displays to be exhibited at the Waupaca county fair at Weyauwega, Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, August 26, 27, 28, 29, probably will be the 1937 House of Wonders, a mammoth electrical show which will occupy the entire building formerly utilized by the township exhibits. The display is made possible by cooperation of the Wisconsin Michigan Power company.

The exterior of the building will have three illuminated signs calling attention to the show and giving the dates of the fair at Weyauwega. Two signs will be put up at each end of the building directing over the entrances calling attention to the electrical display inside. Special lighting fixtures have been designed for illumination. Twelve fixtures will employ 750 watts of lighting energy. This arrangement will provide illumination and add to the attractiveness of the displays. Electric fans will be used throughout the building to add to the comfort of the thousands of visitors expected to see the exhibit.

The feature attraction will be an electrical demonstration. This show, which will be scheduled at regular intervals, will demonstrate the advancement made in controlling electrical energy. Electricity in its uncontrolled state, will be demonstrated, and from this beginning equipment will be used to show passage of 200,000 volts through the human body without injury. The "electric eye," one of the newest applications developed, will be employed in several of its functions. This device is now used for the protection of property, the regulation of large industrial machines, color matching, traffic counting, and many other devices.

A small theatre will offer sound films on the new electrical method of living. A cooking demonstration featuring electric cooking will be a part of the show. Ranges employed in this demonstration will be equipped with glass oven doors so that the actual chemical reactions of the food can be witnessed.

Of special interest to farmers will be the displays of electrical brooders, milking machines, water systems, water heaters, electric motors, and a wiring and lighting display demonstrating the correct material and fixtures to use in wiring farm buildings.

Another feature will be the prizes in addition to the inside displays, there will be three trailers employed outside one of the entrances. One of these trailers will feature a complete all-electric kitchen including the three major electric kitchen appliances, range, refrigerator, and electric dish washer. The other two trailers will display laundry equipment and other major appliances.

Other exhibits include one of the largest of the Wisconsin conservation displays. It will be placed in a natural setting among a grove of pines, the work of the 4-H clubs in Waupaca county. St. Mary's high school band of Menasha will appear Friday. High school bands from Waupaca county, ball games, horse races, novelty races and parades

KING COAL...

Gone modern

IRON FIREMAN made coal the preferred automatic fuel

Let us show you what a genuine Iron Fireman installation in your furnace can do for you. Let us give you all the facts and figures, then you be the judge.

King Coal has gone modern. Wise fuel buyers by the thousands are going modern, too.

Are you one of those who still think of coal in terms of the coal shovel? If you do, you are out of date! King Coal has gone modern. Coal is now the preferred automatic fuel. It fires and regulates itself automatically when you have an Iron Fireman automatic coal burner installed in your furnace.

The reason coal is the preferred automatic fuel is because it offers all of the advantages of other fuels. Then it goes farther and gives two added advantages not found to the same degree in any fuel, automatic or otherwise. First, it actually does a better job of heating—more abundant heat, more uniform. Second, Iron Fireman automatic coal firing operates at the most economical fuel cost on the market today.

American and City League All-Stars Begin Series Friday

Roosevelt Field To be Scene of Opening Battle

Bobbie Diener of A. C. L. To Oppose Branchford or Lorenz

ANOTHER inter-league softball brawl will get underway at 5:30 Friday evening at Roosevelt school diamond when the American City League's All-Stars from up Pierce park way battle with the American league All-Stars from around Roosevelt school. The series will be two out of three games. A collection will be taken at the various games and split between the circuits for their annual banquets.

Managers of both squads have had their proteges out for practice sessions during the last few days. Last night the American leaguers worked with about three-fourth the boys present. They held a batting and fielding drill and then indulged in a game for a few frames.

The American league will start either Howie Branchford of the Fox River or Ole Lorenz of the Woollens on the hill tonight. In case they can't stop the invaders Hilde of Atlas and Tesch and Mitchell of the Post-Tuttle will be available.

Clem DeYoung has been favored as the starting catcher. He is a member of the championship Woolen Mills team. Felzer of Coated and Gebheim of Atlas are the other catching possibilities. The starting first sacker will be Lefty Kranszuch of the Machine-K. C. team with H. Crowe of Coated as the next choice.

Infielders who probably will get the starting call are Mortell of the Woollens, Ray Crane of the same team, Kelly of the Post-Tuttles and Lloyd Schroeder of Coated. Others are Refkoff, Woollens; O. Strutz, Post-Tuttle; A. Meyer, Atlas and R. McClone, Machines.

Outfield choices appear to be W. Strutz, Post-Tuttle; Norm Pope, Woolen Mills; and "Booze" Bowers, Woollens. Others are Mel Pope, Fox River, and E. Giesch, Atlas. Deschade will be the utility person.

Hobbe Diener of the City League's championship Valley Iron team, probably will take the mound for the City league All-Stars. Diener claims more no-hit and one-hit victories this season than any other hurler in the city. Filz of the Merchants and Meyer of the Lutz Coolers are the other hurling choices.

"Balm" Bauers of the Merchants has been nominated to start behind the plate with Horn of Valley Iron as relief. Burton of the Merchants probably will start at first and Krueger of Jakes will replace him.

The starting infielders look like Davidson, Merchants; Grishaber, Valley Iron; Beach, Menasha; and Captain, Merchants. Other infield nominees are Wettengel, Ponds; Elias, Kobals; Grosser, Merchants and Reider, Kobals.

In the outfield it appears that Kassis, Valley Iron; Gregorius, Kobals and Kapp, Harrimans, will get the assignments.

E. Kloss and S. Krause will coach the City leaguers and Burns and Nickasch do the managing.

The umpires will be William Block of the American league and Bill Pickett of the City league.

McGee Turns in Sixteenth Win
Chicago—(7)—On the basis of his record for the season, Bill McGee, the Columbus Red Birds ace right-hander, is doing a pretty good job of demonstrating the St. Louis Cardinals would have done well to keep him.

McGee, sent to the Columbus branch of the Cardinal chain early in the season, last night turned in his sixteenth victory of the campaign, a 3 to 2 decision over the American association leading Minneapolis Millers. He held the Miller sluggers to eight scattered hits and tightened up in the ninth to put down a rally threat.

Kansas City and Indianapolis divided an afternoon-night doubleheader, the Blues winning the opener, 3 to 1, and the Indians slugging out 16 hits to take the night rubber, 10 to 7.

The night's outpunched Forest Pressnell to give Louisville a 6 to 2 decision over Milwaukee in another night contest. Each hurler allowed seven hits, but Peterson was at his best with men on, recording six strikeouts.

Toledo and St. Paul split a doubleheader. The Mud Hens won the first game, 5 to 4, in 11 innings and the Saints scored a run in the seventh to win the second, 3 to 2.

Lake Geneva Boats are First, Second in Race
Lake Geneva—(7)—Big-Foot-Too and Little Smoke III, Lake Geneva Yacht club entries, won first and second places, respectively yesterday in the third Class A race of the five-day Inland Lakes Yachting association regatta.

Three Winks III, Pine Lake Yacht club entry of Winkler brothers, finished first in Class E, and Charles S. Cameron's Oh-Kay, of the Dela-an Lake fleet, won first place in Class C.

WEHLE ON COAST
Portland, Ore.—(7)—Wilford Wehle, Racine, Wis., quarter-finalist in the 1937 British amateur, arrived here yesterday to compete in the United States amateur self-championship which starts Monday.

Kobals Winners Over Jakes by 9-5 Score

Although the American City league softball season is over, Kobals' and Jakes' Taverns still are playing ball games. The other evening the Kobals turned in a 9 to 5 win over Jakes with Gene Kloss allowing three hits in six innings and then turning the job over to Norm Wankey. Kloss never was in trouble and his mates gave him an early lead. Shorty Steger was the winners' batting star while Cavanaugh did the heavy work for the losers.

Thursday Kobals will play the college all-stars at Whiting field and Sunday go to Waupaca to play the Veterans Home team.

Kimberly Team in Victory Over Kaws

Midgets Trip Kaukauna Youngsters by Score Of 9 to 8

Kimberly—The Kimberly Midgets defeated the Kaukauna boys 9 to 8 in a soft ball game at the ball park Wednesday morning. Scoring heaviest in the third and fourth frames the Kimberly team gathered seven hits in those innings for seven runs. Getting 13 hits for the game, the Kimberly stars started with one run in the opening frame and ended with one in the last inning.

Kaukauna started fast in the first inning when five runs crossed home plate. Vande Lo walked and Van Dalen and Hurst singled. With one down Nyles and Rengan added singles which started the scoring. Steffen then got on by an error while Belongia filed out to retire the side. Kiffe and Walsh each scored one run in the second frame. In the sixth inning Hurst hit a homer with one on to make the eighth run.

Kneepkins, on the mound for Kimberly, allowed nine hits, struck out five and walked two batters. Walsh of the visitors walked two men and had no strikeouts.

Clintonville Team Wins Seventh Straight
Clintonville—The Clintonville Merchants extended their winning streak to seven straight games by turning back Embarras on its diamond Sunday afternoon by a score of 14 to 13. The Merchants came from behind in the eighth and ninth innings to nose out their opponents by a one run margin. Embarras had the Clints helpless until the last two innings when they rallied. With the bases loaded in the last inning, Bedders, first baseman for the Merchants, tripped to center to tie the count at 13-all, and later scored on a single by Roy Bentler. Bentler, Koepke and Spearbraker started for Clintonville, while Hark and McClone did the heavy hitting for Embarras.

Forsters Name Swamp As Starting Hurler
George Swamp has been selected by the Forster Taverns to hurl this evening when they clash with the Hour Taverns of Oshkosh under lights at the Forster diamond. The merchants are one of the better teams in the Saukust City.

Friday evening there will be two games at the Forster field. At 7:30 the Appleton Girls team will meet the New London Girls team and at 8:30 the Dracem Sports of Neenah will clash with Forster Taverns. The New London Girls beat the Appleton Girls the other evening at Appleton with a run in the last inning.

THE WEEK'S GAMES
Tuesday—Church league 6, Fraternal league 5. (All-Star game).
Wednesday—Foresters 10, Moose 10 (tie).
Thursday—Jakes versus Eagles.
Friday—K. of C. versus Y. M. C. A.

MOOSE and Forester softballers tangled last evening at Whiting school diamond and when they finished at the end of eight innings with darkness making further play impossible, they were just where they started in the win column. The game ended in a 10 to 10 tie and the Moose chances of winning the pennant were deferred.

Whether the game will be played next week remains a question. If the Y. M. C. A. beats the K. of C. Friday night the game will be played because a defeat for the Moose will leave them tied with the Y. If the Y loses the Moose will automatically win the pennant.

The Foresters took a 2-run lead in last evening's game but the Moose evened matters with two markers in the third. In the fourth the Foresters went ahead with a run but the Moose came back with a 6-run barrage.

A run in the fifth left the Moose sitting on top of the world but the Foresters broke out with three hits and the Moose erred a couple times and soon the Foresters had six runs and in the seventh they tied the count.

The Foresters missed a splendid chance to win the game in the seventh when Haberman hit one a mile and galloped around the bases. However, he failed to touch in and the Moose saw the mis-cue and tossed the ball to the key-stone bar and Umpire Joe Heckel waved Haberman out amidst a lot of arguing by the Foresters.

Veterans of the Diamond

JAMES "DUFFY" EDMISTER

(Editor's Note: This is another of a series of articles on baseball veterans in this section.)

NEW LONDON—While his trifling 28 years hardly make him a veteran in age when stacked up against the real old timers, James "Duffy" Edminster is the oldest New London boy in the lineup of the Knapsack Brews, youngest team in the Wolf Valley league, and he started playing as early as any of them. Topping him by only a few years in age not in years service on the New London club are Hank McClone of Bear Creek and Phil Palmer of Shioc-Klein, c.

When Duff was a sophomore in New London High school he started playing with the Edison team. He graduated in '28 and joined Readfield for three of four years.

After his experience with Readfield in the county league, Edminster says he gave up baseball as a bad job for four or five years but he took another stab at it with the New London Merchants in their first year in 1935. He played in four games and tossed for two, breaking even. Last year he switched over to the Brews and duplicated his hurling efforts.

This year he led the New London club in hitting early in the season although he usually rates a light average. When the ball is socked his way for he seldom misses a catch and packs a good wing.

ing a great time spending the $5,000 he cleaned up on the greyhounds at Mineola last week.

add youngest sports editor contest: Mike Valonius, of the Springfield (Mass.) Messenger, bobs up and says he's only 15. (The ten and twelve-year-old guys will please have their pappas write). Ray Flaherty coach of the Washington football Redskins doesn't have to worry much with such guys as Dixie Howell of Alabama: "Slingin' Sam" Baugh of Texas Christian and Chuck Bond of Washington U. around.

Max Schmeling brought over a German cuckoo clock for Mrs. Eddie Mead, wife of Henry Armstrong's manager. When Armstrong fought Johnny Cabella in Washington the other night, Al Johnson (who owns the Negro) had a special radio hookup installed so he could hear the fight. Cost: $3,500. Washington baseball writers, here with the Senators, say Bucky Harris will be back at the helm of the Senators next year despite those yarns that Joe Cronin will return as president and general manager.

Richmond (Va.) in the Piedmont league is hot on the trail of Norman (Iron Man) Almond, who recently pitched two shutouts in less than a week for the Richmond American Legion junior team. (Big league scouts are there, too).

The previous games of the series were expected to produce furious scoring displays, but nothing of the kind happened. The collectors held the Chicago Bears to a scoreless tie in 1934, and the Bears won the 1935 game 5 to 0. Last year touchdowns showed up for the first time, but the Detroit Lions were forced to settle for a 7 to 7 draw.

The current All Star outfit apparently lacks the defensive power of the previous teams, but looks stronger offensively.

The Packers boast ample scoring power, particularly with the famous passing combination of Arnold Herber and Don Hutson.

The All Stars' first formal scrimmage, set for yesterday was deferred as the coaches sent the boys through two long sessions on offensive work.

Last night's meeting on rules and officials failed to produce agreement on all points and was adjourned until today.

Oconomowoc—(7)—Dean Mory, 24, former University of Wisconsin athlete, said today he had accepted a position as physical director of the Y. M. C. A. at Wausau, Wis. Mory was a member of the Wisconsin wrestling team in 1935 and captain of the university gymnastic team in 1936.

Veterans Lose to Fourth Warders

Score Is 9 to 6; Losers Insist That They Were "Framed"

Oney Johnston post's one-time Legion softball team bumped up against Carey's Fourth Ward Giants last evening at McKinley school diamond and lost a 9 to 6 decision but insist that there was a colored gentleman in the woodpile—in other words, that they were framed.

The veterans expected to meet an aggregation which would show a few aching and creaking ball players like themselves. Instead they found a bunch of youngsters who with things much their own way with the vets. Any of course Elmer Schabo, the great spark plug of the Vets, who hollered so loudly Monday night his feet gave out and he couldn't play last night, was missing along with Eddie Starnard who's down state for a few days.

The fourth warders staged a 7-run scoring spree in the second frame when the Vets almost had to call the fire department to put out the side. Two more runs in the fifth brought the total to nine.

The Vets got one in the second when Tornow opened with a triple. Four more were counted in the sixth, another triple by Tornow helping proceedings. The last run came in the seventh.

Giants and Pirates Gain Support as Bruins Fold Up

BY SID FEDER Associated Press Sports Writer

THE "EXPERTS" who climbed "way out on that crazy limb" for the Chicago Cubs a couple of weeks ago were scrambling all over each other today, trying to get back before the thing broke in two under them.

You could hear it crackling wide open all over the National League, particularly in the "Greatest Show on Earth," where the Giants and Pirates were pulling up for a finish.

The Bugs pinned the fifth straight setback on the injury-jinxed Windy City Wallpapers yesterday, winning 7-6 with a two-run rally in the ninth, to climb back into a virtual tie for third place. At the same time, the Giants, making the most of their newly-discovered ability to hit timely home runs, belted the Boston Bees 9-1, for their fifth straight win, and were only a pitch and putt off the pace.

The Pirates victory was also the Bucs' fifth in a row, and made it look like the Pittsburghs may finally be coming out of their sleepwalking habits of recent years. Although they have little of the crack pitching that is skyrocketing the Giants' left arm of King Carl Hubbell who turned in a seven-hitter yesterday, the Bucs are betting that apple-and-winning the close ones.

While the Giants have been taking the second division Philadelphia Phillies and Boston Bees during their current winning streak, the Pirates have run into the tougher sockers from St. Louis and Chicago, with the same results. Whichever way you look at it, however, it appears the Giants and Pirates may yet fight it out for the flag, with the Cardinals still to be heard from and the Cubs praying for fewer bandages on more ball-players.

Meantime, the New York Yankees are slugging along on an 11-game lead in American league, waiting for the rival circuit to decide whether it'll be another New York subway series, or whether Chicago, Pittsburgh or St. Louis will be the party of the second party.

Di Mag Hits No. 35

Murderers' Row made it three straight over the Washington Senators yesterday with a 7-6 decision on the strength of Joe DiMaggio's 35th homer, which broke up the ball game in the ninth inning.

The second-place Detroit Tigers were trounced thoroughly by the Chicago White Sox, losing 6-0 to Vernon Kennedy's four-hit flinging. The Philadelphia Athletics scored their first win of the year over the Boston Red Sox 4-2.

The Cleveland Indians and St. Louis Browns broke even in a double bill, Cleveland coming through 5-2 in the opener and then dropping 11-6 in the clotting contest. The Brooklyn Dodgers and Phils were rained out and the Cards and Cincinnati took the day off.

Outline Defense Of Wightman Cup

British Invade Forest Hills With Young and Old Netters

New York—(AP)—Four seasoned Americans went through brief workouts today preparatory to beginning defense of the Wightman tennis cup against the threat of a British team combining youth and veteran players.

The United States decided yesterday to rely upon four veterans of Wightman cup play to defend the cup it has held continuously since 1930. All but two of the British teams have participated in previous team competition between the two nations.

Alice Marble, the national champion, Helen Jacobs, former Wimbledon and national champion who first played in Wightman cup matches in 1927, Mrs. Marjorie Gladman Van Ryn and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabryan compose the American team for the matches at Forest Hills tomorrow and Saturday.

Against them the British will send four veterans, Kay Stammers, Ruth Hardwick, Freda James and Evelyn Dearman, and two newcomers, Margot Lumb and Joan Ingram.

Miss Marble and Miss Jacobs will play the first and second singles posts for the United States. The former will open the matches against Miss Hardwick, while Miss Jacobs meets Miss Stammers, best known of the invading players. A doubles match between the second doubles teams, Miss Marble and Mrs. Fabryan for the United States and Miss Dearman and Miss Ingram, will conclude the first day of play.

Farmers Check Waupaca County In Soil Program

Operators Act as Reporters To Investigate Compliance With Rules

Waupaca—Forty-one Waupaca county farmers serving as field reporters have started the work of checking compliance on county farms under the 1937 agricultural conservation program. A meeting was held at Waupaca to go over the various details of inspecting farms and to give out equipment and forms that are needed.

This year the farm checkup will be somewhat easier than in 1936 because only fields where boundaries were changed since last year will need to be measured. The principal work will be to list the acres of various crops and to record soil carrying. A second visit about Nov. 1 will be made to list practices put into effect after the first inspection and before Nov. 1, when this year's program ends.

It is recommended that each farm operator cooperate with the field reporter by going with him during the farm inspection. This will eliminate mistakes and full credit will be given each farm for all soil building practices. Farms that were not in the program last year and have made a request to be included this year will be measured the same as farms included last year.

Farmers who are serving as field reporters include: Bear Creek township, Robert J. Neely and George D. Mulvey; Caledonia, Walter A. Danke and Eugene T. Foy; Dayton, Reuben P. Holman and Calvin J. Schrock; Dupont, Bernard W. May and Wm. H. Hildebrand; Farmington, K. Martin Olson and Paul S. Jensen; Fremont, Leon and W. Kloehn; Harrison, Lee V. Lashua and Oscar L. Johnson; Helvelia, Alvett E. Chicago—(AP)—Medalist Alexander Antonio of Linden, N. J., who barely avoided elimination yesterday, and Roy Ribelin of Dallas, Tex., were paired today in the feature quarter-finals battle in the second annual Left-handed golfers' championship tournament at Olympia Fields.

Antonio blew a 4-up margin over D. H. Williams of Youngstown, O., yesterday on the last 18 holes, but managed to stay in the tournament when his putt on the 38th green struck the Ohioan's ball and crumpled into the cup to win the hole and the match. Ribelin eliminated Ken Guenther of Sioux Falls, S. D., 4 and 3.

Fred Evans of Clayton, Mo., runner-up for last year's title, defeated Sam Albert of Chicago, 5 and 3 and squared off against Alvin D. Everett of Rome, Ga. Everett advanced by whipping Ken Fitzgerald of Overland, Mo., 5 and 4. Earl Edes of Rice Lake, Wis., who routed Oliver Hoag of Grand Rapids, Mich., 11 and 10, faced A. J. Thorner, Jr., whose edge over Jack Walters of Tacoma, Wash., was 7 and 6.

In the fourth match Harold Zedewich of Toledo, and Riley Trumbo of Marseilles, Ill., both of whom had to go extra holes to win, were paired off. Zedewich defeated Sam Arnold of Kirksville, Mo., on a 37 hole, and Trumbo gained the decision over Fred Meacham of Chicago, on the second extra hole.

Weyauwega Boy to go On Scouts' North Tour

Weyauwega—Glen Steiger, son of County Clerk and Mrs. L. J. Steiger will join a group of 17 scouts and leaders of Twin Lake Council Boy Scouts of America on an 11-day trip that will include seven days of paddling canoes in the Lake of the Woods region and Quetico provincial park in Canada.

This group of men and boys are members of the Good Will tour club of the council, which has its headquarters in Oshkosh. When the National Jamboree of 1935 was postponed to this year because of the prevalence of infantile paralysis in Washington, D. C., the council's contingent toured the east instead. When they got back home the group formed the tour club with the idea of taking some type of a trip each year.

The group will leave from Oshkosh Monday morning, and head north for the Brule river where the second night's camp will be established. The second day they will go to Winton, Minn., where the canoe trip will be started. The first 20 miles will be by launch with canoes in tow. There will be a 2-mile portage by truck. And then the group will be on water to paddle their own canoes for seven days, camping along the way. In returning home they plan to leave Winton, Minn., and reach interstate park for the overnight stay and get home Sept. 2.

Early Accounts of Chilton History Entertain Kiwanians and Guests

Chilton—Chilton's old settlers were guests of the Kiwanis club Tuesday evening at the Hotel Chilton. The meeting was held to give Kiwanians and their wives an opportunity to hear talks on "The Good Old Times," and also some of the times that were not so good, because of the trials and hardships which the early settlers had to endure.

None of the original settlers were present, they having all passed away. But some of their descendants were present and gave interesting accounts of the social and business life of the late fifties and the trying days preceding and following the Civil War. Mrs. Thomas Flatley told of the manner in which stores did business during her girlhood days. Mrs. Flatley was born on a farm near Chilton and came here as a child. She assisted her father in his store, and she remembers that practically every commodity was sold in barrels, chiefly dried apples, sugar, flour, rice and tobacco. Across the street from her father's store was a vacant lot on which Indians often spent the night.

Mrs. George Mortimer gave an account of the early schools in Chilton. The schools were meagerly equipped, but the teachers were sincere men and women who taught thoroughly. Mrs. Mortimer's father was one of the first men from this city to enlist in the war, and he died from illness contracted in service. Mrs. Augusta Keller and Mrs. George Seudel who came here in an early age and lived here since described the growth of Chilton since the coming of the railroad.

Joseph Grassold, now a partner in the Chilton Times-Journal gave a history of the newspapers of the county.

Wm. N. Knauf, secretary of the Kiwanis club, sketched the development of grain elevators here. A number of old pictures of the earlier days were brought to the meeting and were examined with great interest, one a picture of the first volunteer fire department.

Mrs. Earl Groetzing, Mrs. Elizabeth Groetzing and Mrs. Wm. McHale entertained at luncheon and bridge at the Hotel Chilton Wednesday afternoon. Eight tables were in play. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Cyril Pfeffer, Mrs. G. M. Morrissey, Mrs. A. P. Baumann, Mrs. A. J. Pfeffer, Mrs. Wm. Staus, Mrs. Al Mescar and Mrs. Abbie McGovern of Milwaukee.

Council Accepts Assessments on Paving Project

Authorizes Start of Operations on N. Commercial Street

Neenah — Aldermen last night authorized the start of the N. Commercial street paving project with the final acceptance of assessments against property owners from N. Water street to Nicolet boulevard at an adjourned meeting of the common council in city hall.

After several months delay while councilmen and property owners discussed the respective merits of "black top" pavement as compared to concrete, the contract was awarded to Abel and Lotz Construction company of Wausau who bid $19,795 on a 7-inch reinforced concrete job. Paving equipment has arrived here and it is expected the project will start within a week.

Assessments against property owners on N. Commercial street were verified at a public hearing Aug. 10 when no objections were heard from owners. The assessment was set a $2.26 per running foot. The city will pay one third of the cost plus the cost of the intersections. Assessment was computed on the total amount of the bid minus $1,750 paid to the city of Neenah by the Wisconsin-Michigan Power company for removing street car tracks.

Installation Plan

Selling of a special improvement bond covering the assessment and interest was authorized in a resolution passed by the council. Under the plan, property owners may either pay assessments in cash or on a deferred payment system. Assessments will be added to the tax roll as a special tax.

The contract to furnish the office of the city engineer with additional furniture was awarded to the Twin City School Supply company, whose bid was $611.05. Two other bids were received, one for $587.60 and the other for $516.50. The contract was awarded to the highest bidder because the two low bids were based on class B and C furniture and did not cover specifications, it was said.

Alderman William Schmidt moved that the council advertise for bids on a street grader after Alderman Carl E. Loehning, chairman of the street committee, reported that a grader was needed. The motion was carried unanimously and the clerk instructed to advertise.

Accept Petition

Councilmen favored raising the grade eight inches and installing new sidewalk on W. North Water street from River street, 300 feet west, after a petition signed by property owners was read by the city clerk. The work will be started immediately.

After Alderman Robert M. Martens suggested that a water cooler be purchased for the city hall and Alderman instructed him to investigate the initial and operating costs of a cooler.

The possibility of WPA projects to employ men on relief during the winter months was discussed. Alderman Loehning suggested that paving bricks be taken from N. Commercial street be used to build a bath house at the new bathing beach. Definite reports on possible projects will be heard at the next meeting of the council.

Allow Bills

Installation of rest rooms at Shattuck park was discussed by aldermen. The mayor reported that the park board had considered the project but funds were insufficient to warrant the expenditure. However, the project would be considered.

A petition to install a street light at Jewel and Lorraine streets was received and placed on file.

An operator's license was granted to Henry Henningsen.

Bills totaling $78,047.77 involving 103 accounts were passed by the council and the city clerk was authorized to draw checks for the amounts. Principle accounts were: $59,929.22; sewage commission, $10,000; and sewer installation, $3,208.13.

Council May Act On Buildings for Fresh Air Camp

Expect Neenah Board of Health to Recommend New Structures

Neenah—Whether new buildings will be erected next year to house the Neenah Fresh Air camp on Lake Winnebago will be discussed at the next meeting of the common council. It was decided at a meeting last night.

Although no official report on camp operations this year was received by the council, Aldermen Carl E. Loehning, a member of the board of health, said that the board would recommend that new buildings be erected. He said that the camp could not be operated next summer with the buildings in their present condition.

Alderman Robert Martens said that he believed the camp should be continued, that fine work in the prevention of tuberculosis was being done each year and that the camp is needed. It was reported that an inspector from the state board of health had condemned the camp, in its present condition, and that specifications for a new building would be submitted by the state board.

Shaky Structure

The building, which has been housing the children each summer for the camp period, was the original camp erected many years ago. Only repairs and some additions have been added. It is a roughly constructed building according to city officials who inspected the camp recently and the single floor with light beams underneath make a shaky structure at the present time.

However, if a larger building was erected on the present site, it would mean less play area for the children. Lots adjoining the present site to the left and to the rear are available but it is not definite as to what action would be taken in regard to purchasing such lots.

Fifteen children had the privilege of the camp life this summer with Miss Evelyn Scholl, city and school nurse, in charge. A total gain of 44 pounds was recorded during the 4 weeks that the children were at camp. The greatest weight gained by any one child was 5 pounds and one little girl gained 31 pounds in 8 days.

Cholera New Menace to Chinese Foreign Colony

Hongkong—A cholera epidemic menaced an area of several hundred square miles on the south China coast today, including this British haven for refugees from the Shanghai warfare.

Shipping officials here expressed fear that it would be necessary to cancel all calls at this port and to quarantine ships which already have arrived.

This created the danger that evacuation of British nationals from China might have to be suspended.

Of 136 reported cases of cholera last week, 82 already have been fatal. The epidemic caused 19 deaths the week before.

The health bureau under League of Nations auspices disclosed that 35 cholera victims had died in Macao and 32 in Canton last week.

Defeat Neenah Merchants, 10 to 6, on High School Diamond

Neenah—Turning in a 10 to 6 victory over the Neenah Merchants last night at the high school diamond, the Owl Taverns took over undisputed possession of first place in the City Softball league when the Draheim Sports dropped a 1-0 decision to the Bergstrom Papers.

Erect Bleachers Friday for Neenah Pet, Hobby Display

Seventh Annual Show to be Held Sunday at Riverside Park

Neenah—Bleachers and cages for the seventh annual Pet and Hobby show for Neenah children at Riverside park Sunday will be erected Friday and Saturday. Armin Gerhardt, playground director, said today.

Over 100 entries have been registered and more are expected before Sunday, it was reported. All kind of pet including dogs, poultry, pheasants, rabbits, cats and pigeons may be entered and prizes will be awarded in all classes.

In addition to the pet show, the girls' handicraft class, conducted by Florence Koepsel Oberreich this summer at the Boys Brigade building, will exhibit various articles made during class periods.

Because of the many fairs and other celebrations in the state next weekend, the committee failed to secure dog act to entertain spectators. Olis Huess, committee member, said. However, efforts are still being made to contact a dog act manager in Minneapolis.

Mr. Hayes said today that regardless if the dog entered in a blueblood or just a plain "mutt," his chances of winning a trophy would be the same. He advised entrants to teach their dogs to lead, head up, to display his gait in the judging ring. The dog should also be taught to pose for a few minutes. Hayes also advised a bath for every dog the day before the show.

We will hire men in Appleton, Neenah and Menasha to work in our branch and employ them immediately. Married men preferred. The positions are responsible and we require no investment or deposit, but you must be reputable and able to learn the work at once. This is steady, profitable sales work. Our method of putting the prospect into the market for our invention is so unusual that you must be trained in it. Applicants must be willing to work hard and steady to qualify for these higher incomes.

Prices Start Up Again As Pork Market Reverses

Advances of 10 to 15 Cents Mark End of Sharp Recessions

Chicago—(P)—The hog market reversed itself today and prices started up again after several days of sharp recessions. The general market was 10 to 15 cents higher than Wednesday, with choice butchers weighing around 50 pounds and higher up 15 to 52 cents. The top moved back to $12.90. The bulk sold from $12 to $12.85. Trade was retarded by sharply higher asking prices at the start.

Cattle ranged from steady to 25 cents lower. The very moderate supply of strictly grain fed steers and yearlings ruled steady and had a dependable outlet, but other kinds were weak to 25 cents lower, were dull and had an unreliable outlet. Best fed steers topped at $17.90 with several loads going from $16.50 to $17.75.

Spring lambs provided the activity in the sheep pens and sold readily at 10 to mostly 25 cents higher prices. Four doubles of choice lambs from Utah sold at $11 and natives made from $10.50 to $10.65. Aged sheep were steady.
